

St. Michaels to survey parents

ORLAND PARK — In a brief get acquainted meeting St. Michael School Board of Education met Tuesday evening, Oct. 3.

Three of the six newly elected board members were present; Mrs. Jeanette Wood, Mrs. Carol Gobby; and Howard Manning.

A tentative date was set for the entire board to meet with the 27-member faculty and spouses on Fri., Nov. 10. Mrs. Gobby will handle details for the special session.

Board Chairman Felix Germino appointed Robert Boucek to head a committee to review the school board's constitution. A preliminary report is due in January. Germino said he would appoint a chairman for the finance and personnel committees.

Board members agreed to consider another survey of parents requesting their opinions and comments on the operation of the school. In addition the board will continue its evaluation of the school's effectiveness and will again survey Sandburg High School seniors for those who are graduates of St. Michael Grade School.

Principal Sister Mary Eunice said 97 replies from a possible 114 were received regarding the Washington trip. 90 families preferred a trip to Washington and seven opted for the Springfield trip.

Germino reminded the board members that any such a trip is not a function of the board and is strictly a responsibility of the parents. The board is on record as being in agreement with Archdiocesan policy which says that such long trips for eighth grade students should be discouraged.

Meeting nights have been changed to the first Monday of the month during November and December.

College testing underway

ORLAND PARK — Registration for the PSAT-NMSQT test for Carl Sandburg High School juniors will be held Wed. and Thurs., Oct. 11-12, in the school cafeteria. The cost is $3.50. The test will be given Sat., Oct. 28.

The purpose of the PSAT-NMSQT test is to help juniors assess ability to do college work, evaluate plans for college and to choose courses for the senior year.

It also prepares students for the College Board Scholastic Aptitude test which many colleges and universities require of applicants.

The SAT, Scholastic Achievement Test, will be given Sat., Nov. 4, at Sandburg, which is a test center. On Dec. 2 Sandburg is a test center for both the SAT, and the College boards.

James Adcock, guidance director at Sandburg is also planning a financial aid workshop at 7:30 p.m. Tues., Oct. 24, for both parents and students to explore means of receiving financial assistance to meet costs of attending college.

Parents night at Tinley High

TINLEY PARK — Mom and Pop will have a chance to see first-hand what their students do each day in high school beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tues., Oct. 17, when Tinley Park High School has scheduled its annual open house.

The parents of all the students will receive in the mail an invitation to attend and a blank schedule which their teen-agers should fill out.

The usual 55 minute class periods will be shortened to ten minutes, but other parts of a typical school day will be as usual. Teachers will give the parents a quick introduction to the courses they teach. During the scheduled lunch hour or "after school" the visitors are invited to the cafeteria for coffee and cake.

Besides visiting the classrooms all guests are welcome to visit the library, gyms, special education and occupational education areas, and the guidance, attendance and general offices.

National Honor Society students will serve as guides for the visitors and will make spot announcements during the evening.

The back to school night first class will start at 7:30 p.m. and seventh period will end at 9:10 p.m.

Doughnut Day Saturday

ORLAND PARK — Members of the Sandburg High School Boosters Club will canvass the community Saturday, Oct. 14, during the group's annual doughnut sale.

Student and adult members of the club will have 1,000 dozen doughnuts to sell as a fund raising event during the door-to-door coverage of Orland Park and the surrounding area.

Tuesday night Phil Ashbeck of the Chicago White Sox met with the Boosters during the group's monthly meeting to make plans for the basketball game to be held this winter between the White Sox and Sandburg faculty members.

The White Sox will hold an autograph session during intermission. The grand prize for the evening will be a White Sox autographed bat to be given away to a member of the audience.

Frankfort trustees study contributions

FRANKFORT — The proposed ordinance under which subdividers would contribute sites of cash to the Frankfort elementary school and Lincoln-Way High School was discussed at some length before the Frankfort village board Monday night.

The measure will be brought up again tonight (Wednesday) before the village Zoning Board of Appeals, which in turn will make a recommendation to the village trustees. The village board is slated to take final action at its regular meeting Nov. 6.

Supt. Leroy M. Olson, head of the Frankfort schools and Supt. Joe Kruzich, of Lincoln-Way High School appeared before village officials Monday night and will be present at tonight's session of the zoning board.

Kruzich said that it was up to the village trustees as to whether the ordinance should be revised, with possible additions or deletions and if it should be adopted. The main purpose, both he and Olson pointed out, was off-set the tax lag that now exists.

From the time a house is built and occupied, they said it could be from 18 to 23 months before any taxes are collected. In the meantime, they said, the schools are getting more pupils, which means more costs but no money coming in to cover them.

The schools began considering the problem about 18 months ago, the schoolmen said, as indications of considerable population growth in the area became apparent and as a result retained a school consultant firm at Naperville to draft an ordinance calculated to relieve the situation.

The village boards of New Lenox, Mokena and Manhattan, all underlying districts of Lincoln-Way High School have adopted this ordinance. The ordinance, Kruzich said, was submitted to the attorneys of the four villages who were invited to give their opinions and make such changes as they believed fit.

Mayor Glenn Warning said that the board was not opposed to aiding the schools but there were several questions that had been raised. The library wanted to be included, he said, and the fire protection district, and there was the question of land gifts from which the park board or the village could benefit.

The school officials said they had no objections to any such additions.

Or the question of who would defend any court action against the ordinance, Kruzich said that if it were attacked then the question could be decided.

"One could withdraw the ordinance, if necessary," he said. "State Senator Harris' law is unsuccessful in getting state legislation enacted on this form of aid to the schools at the last session of the legislature. The Home Builders Association put up stiff opposition but Senator Fawell is going to try again and if successful that might be the answer to your question. You have such a problem confronting you on many of the ordinances adopted."

Village Attorney August J. Santoro pointed out that if the village charged a certain fee for a certain service and later discovered they could not legally collect it the village could give the money back.

"If we collect this money from the subdividers for the schools and they find it had to be paid back, would the schools return the money?"

Kruzich said the schools would pay. He added that sometimes the money came directly to the schools, pointing out cases where he has negotiated with builders whose subdivisions were outside the jurisdiction of villages.

The school officials, in answer to another question asked by Mayor Warning said they were endeavoring to get similar legislation from the county board and Kruzich pointed out that the Grundy County board was considering the question.

Santoro said that he was not opposed to aiding the schools but he contended that Frankfort was in a different situation than other communities in the area.

"Frankfort has very strict requirements for subdivisions," he said. "We keep our density of population at a low point, which indirectly is beneficial to the schools. It is more expensive for a subdivider to build here because we require 90-foot lots, 10-foot side yards, 5,000 square feet of land for an apartment unit, wider streets, curbs and gutters. Now if we require builders to pay money to the schools we might drive them away and surround ourselves with 50-foot lots and perhaps less desirable construction.

"If subdividers don't want to go along with our requirements," the mayor said, "we don't want them."

Readiness skill class still 'new'

FRANKFORT — Kindergarten children in the Ann Rutledge-Frankfort Square Schools last week inaugurated the third year of the Motor Facilitation Program. Coordinated by Mrs. Stannye Bybee, Kindergarten teacher at the school, the program made its debut here in 1970, with its principle objective being to prepare the children in readiness skills which would make possible easier achievement in reading and other areas at the first grade level.

According to Mrs. Bybee, there has always been a real concern about the slow learner in school classrooms. An estimated 10 to 20 per cent of school-age children suffer from learning disabilities tagged with any one of nearly 50 terms ranging from "aggressive behavior disorder" to "visual-motor perceptual lag." If recognized, these problems can be corrected or treated. Following various experiments and extensive research, and based on the premise that nearly every child can be helped to better perceptual function, plans were developed for the Motor Facilitation Program.

The program may appear to be a nursery-school version of physical education, complete with hand-clapping, toe-tapping five-and-six-year-olds divided into groups of three, each with its own adult leader. Yet each activity — creeping, hopping, jumping, skipping, for example — has a special purpose designed to help each child develop perceptual motor abilities.

Improvement in motor ability will aid the child to function better socially, as well as contributing directly to certain areas of classroom learning.

Recent studies show that children must experience a long period of play before they develop the concentration necessary for mastering difficult abstractions of reading and arithmetic. The child, it is believed, must be exposed to things to see, hear and manipulate.

From ages 2 to 7 years, the child experiences perceptual play that includes symbolism and imagination; this time contributes to the child's sense of confidence and helps him to explore his environment within his family unit. Most children are exposed to such a period of play development. Others are not, and therefore, must wait until they enter kindergarten.

Since there are children who are behind what is expected of their age and never seem ready to assimilate what is being learned, the motor facilitation program is extremely important. Research shows that perceptual and motor functions are inseparable. Perceptual-motor training should improve the child's ability to structure, judge and place in order events to which he is exposed.

The program begins with simple tasks — identifying one's elbows, ankles, shoulders; touching one's chin to the knee and presents more difficult assignments as the child becomes ready to perform them. These include walking on balance beams, turning half-circles, combining turns with jumps and cross-stepping.

In short, the program provides activities to develop body image complete awareness of one's own body and its possibilities of movement and performance, general coordination, balance, eye-hand coordination and eye movements and activities involving sensory perception.

Working with Mrs. Bybee on the twice-weekly program are seven Frankfort Square mothers and eight mothers of Ann Rutledge students. The first seven are Mrs. Caroline Hanley, Mrs. Sher Ford, Mrs. Carol Nicol, Mrs. Andrea Schmid, Mrs. Furay, Mrs. Robin Tromotola and Mrs. Paula Moustis. The eight Ann Rutledge volunteers are Mrs. Mizysack, Mrs. James Lee, Mrs. Dorothy Griffen, Mrs. Neva Heath and Mrs. Shirley Mercier. Also, Mrs. Annie Wheeler, Mrs. Cindy Stipan and Mrs. Beverly Lorden.

Summitt Hill seeks interest free money

ARBURY HILLS — Members of the board of Summit Hill District 161 last week sought approval from the Illinois State Building Commission's development board for money that will finance the construction of a new junior high school to be located between Frankfort Square and Arbury Hills. According to Superintendent Aldo Fanti, the district has depleted its bonding power, consequently, it is necessary to make an appeal for state funds.

The referendum, approximately $660,000.00, will be repayable over a period of 16 years, and is granted to the taxpayers on an interest-free basis. It is possible that the issue could be presented to the District voters for approval or rejection as early as Nov. 4.

With immediate approval of the referendum, plans and construction of the building would not be completed before September, 1974. If the project is delayed by voter refusal, the junior high school cannot be expected before Sept. 1975, or even as late as 1976.

It is hoped that the school board will have more complete information on the issue at its meeting tonight at Arbury Hills School.

Also at last week's meeting, the board accepted the resignation of member Herman Veltman. In his letter of resignation, Veltman cited pressing commitments and involvements in other areas as his reason for withdrawal, effective Wednesday, Oct. 11.

At that time board member John Hayden recommended making an appointment to fill the vacancy left by Veltman. Other members vetoed the suggestion, expressing the opinion that the public should be made aware of the opening and interested persons should be allowed to apply for placement in the position. Presently there are no provisions in the school code to cover such vacancies. Since the procedure is not clearly outlined for them, the board is forced to "play it by ear."

Applications for the position are available at Superintendent Fanti's office at the Arbury Hills School. These must be returned by Oct. 25, and will be given consideration by the board at the Nov. 8 meeting. Those interested in applying for appointment are asked to be present at the Nov. 8 meeting to introduce themselves to the board.

Arbury fate up to voters

MOKENA — Whether Arbury Hills, a subdivision along U.S. 45 east of Mokena, shall be annexed to the village will be determined by the voters of Mokena at a referendum which is expected to be held next spring when the regular village election is held.

The petition for annexing to the village of Mokena was decided in the Will County Circuit Court several weeks ago. Formal notice was not forthcoming to the Mokena village board until its session last week. The delay was occasioned, it was explained, by the fact that there was a 30 day period in which the court's ruling could have been appealed. No appeal was filed, however, and with the time elapsed the petitioners presented notice to the board.

The board could have annexed the subdivision without further ado but it voted to accept the petition subject to referendum by Mokena voters.

No date was set for the referendum at the meeting Oct. 10 but indications are that it will be put over until the regular village election. If a special election is called that would mean spending money for clerks and judges, poll rentals, special tally books and sheets and other expenses that would be included in the regular municipal election next April.

A petition asking for a referendum has already been filed as it is reported there is considerable opposition to the proposed annexation. One of the major stumbling blocks, it was pointed out, is that a private utility firm owns the water and sewer service for Arbury Hills. Sale was water and sewer service is a source of considerable revenue, it was explained, but this is not all. Water and sewer rates for Arbury Hills run high, in comparison with the rates in Mokena, and village officials see a constant flow of static resulting from the rate differential and maintenance. It would be up to the utility company serving Arbury Hills to maintain their lines, but it can be readily seen, it was pointed out, that if they were a part of Mokena the people there would turn to the village for a solution of all its problems.

The village also would have to maintain the streets of Arbury Hills, now kept up by the township, provide street lights and police protection. As of now Arbury Hills is a part of the Frankfort Fire Protection District but the people there usually call the Mokena department because their phones are like those used in Mokena — area code 312 and the prefix 479 —, while Frankfort is in area code 815 and has a 469 prefix.

It is said there are many residents of Arbury Hills who are opposed to the annexation because they would be getting little out of it, since there would be no change in the sewer and water rates and they would be picking up the extra tax for the village, which for 1971 was $1.0318 per $100 assessed valuation.

Finian's Rainbow is gold

NEW LENOX — These things have a way of creeping up on one so this piece is a reminder that if you want to hear at first hand "How are Things in Glocca Morra?" make certain you have your tickets for "Finian's Rainbow."

This musical show which has won high acclaim from various critics who saw it on the professional stage, is to be presented by the Lincoln-Way High School music department Oct. 27 and 28 and Nov. 3 and 4.

"Finian's Rainbow" was first produced in 1947 and "How are Things in Glocca Morra?" with its haunting melody was a smash hit. There were some who thought that between radio, juke boxes and TV that the song was completely used up but when the show was revived again in New York in 1955, this song and all the other tuneable hits, were lauded by the critics, who found them as fresh and appealing as ever.

Following the opening of the 1955 revival Walter F. Keer penned this for the New York Tribune:

"If ever a song kicked its heels in the air, it's 'If This Isn't Love.' The new production of 'Finian's Rainbow' made it clear that time has done no damage to the lassies and leprechauns of Mississucky (the fictitious American state where the Irish Finian McLonegan has brought his pot of gold, filched from leprechauns in Ireland.) The giant tree beneath which the pot of gold is buried still swirls lyrically over a curiously enchanted state; the straying McLonegans are still yearning for Glocca Morra with most of the old, melting, magical yearn.

"But with the first irrepressible bars of 'If This Isn't Love,' the show simply takes leave of the floorboards and goes bounding over any rainbow you care to name. Just what Composer Burton Lane has done to make a romantic ballad turn into a seven-league jumping-jack is hard to say. He has put most of the high notes where you'd ordinarily expect low notes, danced his freest capers in just those places where you'd normally look for a little common sense. 'Who'd expect that the 'y' in 'crazy' was going to head for the ceiling like a skyrocket?'"

But "Glocca Morra," and "If This Isn't Love" are only two of the triller-thrillers. "This Time of Year," a chorus that opens show blazes with exuberance and so do the "The Great Come-and-Get-It Day," and "When the Idle Poor Become The Idle Rich," both celebrating the moment when everybody, blessed with the magic of the pot of gold has the credit to buy anything his heart desires.

Wry humor peeps out of the leprechaun's songs, "Something Sort of Grandish," and his confession of fickleness "When I'm Not Near the Girl I Love," and also the explanation of "Necessity" and the paraphrase of Biblical genealogies, "The Begat." Probably the most haunting song of the E.Y. Harburg-Burton Lane score is "Old Devil Moon."

There is the story, of course, but why go into that.

Jim Yarbrough will be playing the part of Finian McLonegan. This is no stock figure in the ingenue role. In his capacity of rough-teller of tall tales, he is at the moment throttling a monster, "vertebrah by vertebrah, and at another arranging the wedding of his daughter, all the while bracing himself with — what else — Irish whiskey.

Villainous, perhaps, to the leprechaun whose crock of gold he lend-leased, he is the beloved, pixified, moonstruck parent to his daughter, as well as the solver of all the problems of those who dwell in the valley where he has brought his magic. He is Mr. Fix-it, the Santa Claus, that everyone expects to turn up when needed.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the Lincoln-Way High School choruses.

The 25,000 sq. ft. store will be architecturally patterned after the new A & P Bolingbrook store. It will have a mansard roof and natural brick trim that will co-incide with the design of the community.

A & P's new W.E.O. concept has proven successful and will allow area shoppers to save money on their food budgets. The A & P addition will benefit the community with competitive merchandising.

Dr. Freedom stated that ground will soon be broken for the center which will include 50 stores and a two-story medical facility. Gordon's Interiors is among major tenants presently under contract. Opening is planned for spring of 1973.

Heart association begins sale

The first signs of the holiday season are here as the Heart Association of South Cook County launches its annual holiday greeting card campaign this month.

Mrs. Charles S. Vil, 2305 Robertson Lane, Flossmoor, is chairman of the card committee for South Cook County.

This year there are two distinctive cards from which to choose. "Joy to the World" is an unusual partridge design embossed in gold on beige enamel. Avocado envelope accents green touches on card. The greeting says "Wishing you all the joys of the Season." Minimum price is 35 cents.

Safety guidelines

Editors note: The following is a suggested list of basic halloween safety rules provided by the National Confectioners Association.

Young children should be accompanied by parents or other responsible adults on their trick-or-treat rounds.

Trick-or-treat visits should be confined to the immediate neighborhood and limited to the residences of known neighbors.

Trick-or-treat visits should be made during daylight hours, if possible.

Householders should be encouraged to give and children to accept only wrapped or sealed candy or other treats. Children should bring all treats home for inspection before eating.

Residents who wish to welcome "trick-or-treaters" should light their porch or exterior lights as a sign of their hospitality.

Children should call only at homes with porch or other outside lights glowing.

Halloween masks should not be worn. Masks restrict vision. Colorful facial make-up may be used instead.

Halloween costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping, and non-flammable. For greater visibility in dusk or darkness, costumes may be decorated with reflective tape so that they glow in the beam of a car's headlights.

Follow the basic pedestrian safety rules developed by the National Safety Council:

—Cross only at corners, never between parked cars, never diagonally across an intersection.

—Look in all directions before crossing the street.

—Watch for and obey all traffic lights.

—Walk, never run across the street.

—Use sidewalks, not the street, for walking.

—Wait on the curb, not in the street, until the street is clear to cross.

Motorists should be warned to exercise extreme caution on Trick-or-Treat day and evening and to be on the alert for excited youngsters.

Children should carry flashlights if there is a possibility of being out after dark.

Pumpkins should be lighted only by means of a flashlight, never with a candle.

Clement P. Bilborn. Special children's activities will be held for all ages Saturday a.m. as well as nursery day care during the business sessions held on Thursday and Friday.

"Grow, so that the whole body is growing and full of love," is the convention theme. Rev. William G. Johnson, pastor of the Moraine Valley Baptist Church cordially invites neighbors and friends to attend the meeting.

Display cases are available

PALOS HILLS — Display cases in the Moraine Valley Community College library are available for community use, according to Anabel Sproat, NVCC head librarian.

"We are interested in handwork, crafts, hobbies, stamp collections, coin collections, rock collections, artifacts and other appropriate materials," Miss Sproat said. "The college has scheduled some collections from museums in the area, but the remainder of the time is open to the community."

According to the college's Public Information Office, information about museum displays or community displays will be distributed to the newspapers.

The library cases are approximately two-and-a-half feet square and 18 inches deep. They have glass on the top and two sides. The cases are locked.

Those interested in displaying materials should contact Miss Sproat on the college campus, 10900 S. 88th Ave., Palos Hills; phone 974-4300, ext. 69.

It's Barnaby's Pub for after the game

District 230 to object to 80-acre development

PALOS HILLS — At a recent meeting of Consolidated School District 230, board members unanimously approved a recommendation by Superintendent William O. Fisher to instruct legal counsel Franklin Klein to represent the district's interests in an objection to a petition for the re-zoning of 80 acres of land just south of Villa West. The property, in unincorporated Cook County, is scheduled for multiple-housing development under R-5 zoning.

Members of the board voiced concern that the construction of three and four bedroom units in the condominium and quadruminium buildings would eventually put unwarranted strain on the existing schools. Also, board officials asserted that the builders greatly underplayed the projected population increases involved.

With the petition filed by Klein, the matter is out of the school board's jurisdiction; the Village Board of Orland Park assumes authority thereafter.

Also at that meeting, the board was notified that the new sewer line, along the Wabash tracks (with the line drilled underneath them) is functioning at present. The sewer line, which was specifically built over-sized to accommodate a large, undeveloped area to the west of the school, was inspected and approved by the Metropolitan Sanitary District. Contractors interested in developing the as yet unused land, and sharing the sewer will be assessed a pro rata cost of the original line, and will be eligible for reimbursement for future recoveries. Taxpayers also will realize the sharing benefit.

Finally, a request to remove the water softening tanks now standing idle at Stagg High School was approved by the board. The tanks considered obsolete since the water system was connected to Palos Hills water line last summer. The area left vacant by the removal of the tanks will be used for storage purposes.

Chamber to elect four

FRANKFORT — The Chamber of Commerce will elect four directors who in turn will name the officers of the organization for the coming year.

The names of seven candidates for directors have been mailed out to the membership, and the four receiving the highest number of votes will serve on the board. There are seven directors, which means there are three hold-overs.

The six names sent out by the nominating petitions for the Chamber board are George Gordon, Jack Rohats, Phillip Pascarella, Ralph Show, Leonard Patterson and Herman Fabiani.

At the recent meeting of the Chamber it was reported that at the annual fall festival the Chamber of Commerce netted $2,312 from the operation of the beer garden and $965 through the sale of roast corn.

PALOS HILLS — Superintendent William O. Fisher, quoting pertinent statistics, last week summarized District 230's need for the anticipated third high school new being suggested to area residents.

The superintendent reported to the Board of Education that by projecting the enrollment figures of the underlying elementary schools it has been determined that for every 100 students entering the first grade, an additional 45 students can be expected by the time the children are ready for eighth grade.

"If that process continues," Fisher pointed out, "the present first grade will be approximately 1,800 by the time they reach the eighth grade in seven years. In general terms, that is the equivalent of four freshman classes the size of the 1972-73 freshman class at Stagg."

It was also noted that although there are indications of enrollment leveling off in the Stagg area, the south end of the district still has 50 miles of undeveloped land. Present statistics indicate that two elementary schools, District 140 Kirby and District 146 Tinley Park, show the largest, constant increase.

Members of the board agreed that provisions for the third high school should be made now, since legal procedures and construction take some time. It was concluded that if the referendum is accepted, the new building will not be ready for occupancy until 1975. Figures suggest that an enrollment of 325 to 350 freshmen could begin classes in the new school in 1975; if sophomores were included, there would be a total of close to 700 students.

The referendum, amounting to $9,250,000, will be presented for voter approval on Saturday, Dec. 16. The funds would provide for the construction of the third high school, allow for a major addition to Stagg High School and also finance minor alterations at Carl Sandburg High.

According to Superintendent Fisher, with the passage of the referendum, first consideration would be given to the full and complete development of Stagg to a capacity of 2,500 to 2,600 students. Additions to the school include a lunch room, bleachers in the swimming pool area, a girl's gym, special education and regular classrooms, additional vocational education space, development of the guidance department through the band room, new music department connected to the present choral room, new locker rooms and a third corridor, in addition to parking space south of the present roadway behind the school.

The Sandburg school would require only a minimum expenditure to complete such work as keying the old building and some landscaping.

Balance to the funds would be used to develop the third high school to as close a capacity of 2,500 to 3,000 students as finances permit. The 40-acre site near 171st Street is already owned by the district.

The new building would be of the same basic design as Stagg, with some improvements and utilizing new materials made available since Stagg was constructed in 1964.

'Lost Horizon'

After 6 o'clock

Cupboard remains bare

The butcher's union was sorely out of tune with public sentiment in its recent massive rejection of the move to expand the hours for sale of fresh meat. Members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen locals said they were against any change in working hours by a vote of 3,219 to 865.

That vote almost seemed an act of deviance in the wake of increasing complaints and pressure from consumers and news media to expand meat sale hours in the Chicago area. Limitations currently restrict the sale of fresh meat after 6 p.m. on week-days and completely on Sundays.

The union took the vote among its rank and file as a guideline in contract negotiations now underway with the major food store chains. The message was so clear that the effort to extend working hours has been abandoned.

The result is one profoundly indifferent to the needs and demands of the buying public, and will serve only to bring down on the butchers more public wrath.

The insensitivity of the meat cutters' position was underlined in a letter to union members after the vote. It read in part:

"If ever the employers are to be convinced that our union meat cutters do not want to work beyond 6 p.m. this should do it! We sympathize with that tiny percentage of shoppers who have difficulty in buying their meats, even though they have 54 shopping hours each week in which to buy. In this modern day and age of freezers we know, however, that they are really not being inconvenienced. If meat were obtainable on a 24-hour basis, some shoppers would want 25 hours.

"We say to the news media, the TV stations, radio and all the other groups who rabble-roused, agitated and distorted the facts, that our first duty is to our members."

We agree with the union on this much: There's no doubt about their position.

But to say there are 54 shopping hours per week for meat-buying is absurd. For most people, there are nine hours — all on Saturday, when the long lines form at the meat counter.

To say the solution is freezing the meat is no answer, either; it's really dodging the issue.

We suggest that when the meat cutters analyze where their first duty is, they consider the shopper.

The meat cutters are in a service occupation, and the more they resist better service, the more alienation of the buying public.

There's no question how the public feels about the issue. Few issues in the past year have stirred more impassioned response from Herald readers than when they can — and cannot — buy fresh meat. And any visitor to a supermarket after meat hours has to be aware of the persistent gubbling from shoppers denied access to fresh meat.

We sympathize with the butcher's position that they like to be home with their families, but there are obvious answers to that. Later working hours on certain days can be handled by staggered shifts, so no butcher would be working across the board on a late shift if he chose not to. More than that, the butchers should be reminded of the hundreds of occupations in which men and women work not only late hours, but even all-night shifts.

But that seems all academic for this year, when both sides in the current bargaining have scuttled hours as a bargaining issue.

There may still be a halfway solution, spotlighted with an announcement from the Jewel food stores. Jewel said it was breaking loose from the group negotiations with the meat cutters to pursue an alternate course: a higher premium for union members in stores where the sale of fresh meat would be permitted after 6 p.m., with no meat cutter or wrapper on duty.

That would mean simply that meat cut during the workday would be left on display for buyers, instead of being held over to the next day, as is the current practice.

A similar plan was suggested by the Dominick's food chain, though Jewel was the first to make its offer public.

We think that is the least the union can agree to. At least then there would be some semblance of convenience for the consumer, some kind of break for the person whose meat-buying time is almost non-existent now.

The union should yield on this point. The butchers have total control now, saying they not only won't cut meat after 6 p.m., but won't even allow its sale.

For the sake of the customer, the union clearly should back off on that position, and then begin a serious — and unemotional — assessment of its stand on work hours. (Arlington Heights Herald)

On a clear day you can see . . .

TINLEY PARK — It won't be long before the Chicago Loop is hidden from view. From 159th Street and Oak Park Avenue, that is.

Now, don't you all drop your newspapers and dash down to that corner at once, but if you're a new resident of Tinley Park perhaps you don't know that on a clear day or evening you can see forever. So, I'm exaggerating — you can see the tall buildings in the Loop from the point just named.

With construction soon to begin on the north east side of that corner, the vantage point will disappear. Now is the time to know that 159th Street and Oak Park Avenue, is the highest elevation in Cook County, reaching up to a gigantic 733.322 feet. You can almost feel the crisp mountain air.

Illinois is one of the most level states in the Union, having an average elevation of 600 feet. We're a bit above average in Tinley Park, taking the entire state into consideration. The highest point in Illinois is in the northwest corner at Charles Mound in Jo Daviess County — 1,241 feet. Just thought you'd like to know.

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

Traditionally, Halloween has been a time for parents and children to join together for an evening of family fun. Recently this event has been marred by reports of alleged occurrences which have received coverage by some newspapers and other media. Usually, the report is of a "tainted" treat which has supposedly been given to unsuspecting children during their Halloween rounds.

Growing evidence now shows that most of these stories in reality are hoaxes which have proven to be unfounded through police investigations. Since any threat to children, real or otherwise, is a matter of great concern to all of us, the "trick" provides an effective means of creating an emotional response among parents and notoriety and publicity for the perpetrators. In a sense, this sort of trick is on us.

Two major dailies have published investigative features on the problem of Halloween hoaxes. In the case of the Los Angeles Times, the reporter found that a study of the files of detectives in Los Angeles, Detroit, Philadelphia and elsewhere revealed that "almost two thirds of the incidents that are reported, . . . turn out, under scrutiny, to be either hoaxes or occurrences of minor importance." The Des Moines Register and Tribune reporter found that "police in Iowa cities and towns have been unable to confirm a single one of the Halloween reports this year." Other investigations of incidents in other communities confirm these findings.

It is your duty, of course, to report to the public any matter in the public interest. However, the snowballing effect of the publication of a number of unverified reports not only tends to encourage the perpetration of similar hoaxes but also can encourage sadists to attempt the "real thing." When the police are kept occupied with hoaxes, they are unavailable to attend to the real needs of the community.

We would also appreciate any information concerning Halloween hoaxes which comes to you in the course of your investigations. In past years, you have been most cooperative in helping promote Halloween safety. Your interest in this matter is appreciated as are your continued efforts in helping preserve Halloween as "family fun time."

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the City of Oak Forest on October 9, Mr. Ronald Green was appointed to the Oak Forest Fire and Police Board. There is no question in my mind that Mr. Green will do a superlative job insofar as his responsibilities are concerned.

As a result of this appointment, Mr. Robert Paonessa, a member of the Fire and Police Board since 1969, was relieved of his responsibilities.

There are personal, political, and philosophical factors involved in the original disapproval of Mr. Paonessa's appointment and the subsequent appointment of Mr. Green.

Mr. Paonessa, Mr. Green, the Board of Trustees of the City of Oak Forest, and I, are familiar with these factors. However, there is no man in the City of Oak Forest that, to date, has come to me with the charge that Mr. Paonessa has not served the City of Oak Forest to the highest degree of personal honesty, to the highest degree of personal competence, or to the highest degree of personal dedication.

I find it most unfortunate, and almost shameful, that a man who has so dedicated himself to the welfare of our community is not allowed to continue to serve our community.

I offer no criticism of anyone involved in this situation. However, I thought it appropriate, through your mass communication with our citizens, to offer my opinion that Robert Paonessa has served the City of Oak Forest well and deserves the appreciation of every citizen in the City of Oak Forest.

BERNARD J. KELLY, Mayor
City of Oak Forest

Editor:

As far as I am concerned the Cook County Clean Streams Committee is getting almost no cooperation from the Village of Tinley Park in matters of pollution within Tinley Park and in the close surrounding unincorporated areas. It is apparent to me that my time is being wasted going to village board meetings and after waiting for more than two hours, being allowed to speak for five minutes at the tail end of the meeting. This is a very sorry way to encourage citizen participation. Other boards allow people to speak at the beginning of the meeting. Almost invariably Mayor Dunn has sarcasms or surly remarks to make during the time I am addressing the board. Usually I am not allowed to finish, but am cut off in mid sentence. Common courtesy is not Mayor Dunn's long suit.

It is obvious to me that this village board understands gut quivering fear and is very knowledgeable about the power-peck-order. When the Metropolitan Sanitary District of greater Chicago speaks these board members perk up their ears. It is also obvious they respect the power to fine and put people under performance bond. The Illinois Pollution Control Board has this power. When the police department in matters of pollution (the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency) speaks the high and mighty on the Tinley Park Village Board also listen well and also heed most rapidly.

It is a shame that matters of public health cannot be taken care of locally without involving other authorities. It should be noted that our state government Rayson included a (co-sponsor of the Protection Act by the way) gave to the people the right under the Environmental Protection Act to file complaints with the state of Illinois. I have used this power and have gotten excellent results. An incinerator at a grocery store on the south side of Tinley Park was belching smoke out of their inefficient incinerator. The stack did not even have a screen to catch and not allow large burning pieces to fall on the tar roof. The owners were required to spend considerable money by the protection agency and were required to install a gas fired after-burner. At least no fireman will run the risk of losing his life from a fire from this source.

The I-80 Theatre matter has been filed with the Pollution Board. Undoubtedly an adequate treatment plant will be installed at this theatre or it will not open again.

The Brentowne lift station matter has also been filed with the pollution Board. At this writing the very flimsy cover is still on the wet well and this incompletely lift station is still in use and is taking storm water. Parents take note. That wet well pit is about fifteen feet deep. I would suggest that there are better ways to die than to fall into a pit full of raw manure.

The Oak Village at 181st and Oak Park Avenue has been sited by MSD this last week for allowing storm water to flow down a manhole. The people in the area on 177th Street will undoubtedly find it very amusing when they have basements & streets full of raw sewage if the situation is not stopped.

On second thought

You're better off home

By GLENN LOGAN

It's that time of year again.

It is that time when the farm and suburban dwellers who hope to be around for a time will be alert and take to the cellar at the first burst of gunfire that appears to be close at hand.

This is the hunting season, or will be shortly, and to be careful may be the difference of staying alive or winding up in the obituary column.

Seasoned hunters are not dangerous. The amateurs, the gunners who get out once a year or who decide they are the type that should go hunting and do so. A lot of these neophytes are able to borrow the necessary equipment. If they had to pay for it—not on installments mind you, but cash, there wouldn't be so many hunters and that would be good. Between the automobile and the amateur hunter the countryside is really hazardous in the fall.

There isn't anything wrong with hunting, except the dunderheads who engage in it. Hunting helps to balance bird and animal populations and bring about new bloodlines. But these once-a-year hunters are like Sunday drivers and Sunday golfers. They lack experience.

There are organizations that teach firearms safety. They drill students on how to handle different weapons in an endeavor to lessen chances for accidental death through careless handling of guns.

That is all very well for those who will do their shooting on a range where one shoots at targets but your correspondent suggests an additional class for those who are going hunting. The pheasant season will be on us next month and it would not be too early now for those who plan to hunt these birds to find out what they look like.

That is why it is suggested that new hunters be given a course in game identification.

Why not show some live pheasants, rabbits, squirrels as well as pictures and filmstrips.

It seems that a lot of so-called hunters have great difficulty in distinguishing one species of upland game from another, with frequent loss to farmers and sometimes suburban residents.

It seems that the waterfowl hunters school the newcomers to that sport, inasmuch as they may spend long hours close together in a cold, damp blind in some river or lake. Duck hunters who invade a farmer's field in the hope of potting a few fowl on a cow or fish pond can be quite lethal and should be taught to know what a duck looks like. Those hunting geese in cornfield should also be taught to distinguish a goose from a corn picker or a horse.

Perhaps we are being over critical and to infer that some of those who go hunting are a bunch of ignorant bumpkins is too harsh. But when one finds hunters firing guns in the outskirts of villages or sending a farm family to take refuge in a storm cellar to escape from a hail of shotgun pellets one could think of other things to call them, even less complimentary.

Orland aids USO

ORLAND PARK — Over 75 young men and women from the Orland area benefit from services provided by the U.S.O., a home away from home. Their big activities locally are the U.S.O. Club at 14 E. Jackson Blvd. and the U.S.O. Lounge-O'Hare Airport.

Much of the U.S.O. funding is utilized by the offering of the following services and programs: Free baseball tickets to those in uniform, movie tickets, discount tickets for plays, sporting events, cultural events Chicago Symphony Orchestra, dances, free buffets every Friday and Saturday at their Chicago Club, referral services to vets for on the job training, schooling, and job aid.

In the first 6 months of 1972, attendance at USO services worldwide by servicemen and their dependents totaled 6,383,113; permanent housing requests filled reached 5,551; the USO found jobs for 5,793 servicemen, veterans and dependents. (All jobs for active servicemen were part-time jobs during off-duty hours); discount hotel and motel arrangements were handled for 152,467; a total of 2,390 educational instruction sessions were attended by servicemen and their wives; free telephone calls for servicemen numbered 5,294; the ever popular free buffets, picnics, etc. were held 4,317 times, and the USO shows for this period sent 65 units overseas where they held 3,875 performances before an audience of 2,570,000.

The Orland Chest feels that their support to this agency is much needed and will strive to continue funding during the October campaign in which the Chest hopes to reach their goal of $5,500 locally.

Robert has installed a work table in the attached garage of the Dominiak home. The garage also houses working equipment and materials for his creative sculptures.

The medium is the message

By Jean Wille

I have never been an admirer of contemporary art. However, in interviewing Robert Dominiak, Oak Forest, I was fortunate enough to have a contemporary sculptor explain not only his work, but his thoughts.

"Art is a means of communication," he said.

When I first viewed the award winning steel structures in the Dominiak home, I was disappointed. I have always thought that art should be "beautiful" communication. There is nothing particularly "beautiful" about steel and the structures looked cold and slightly awkward. The "people" were not perfectly formed, but as I listened to Robert explain his works, I realized that the message, or communication, was not supposed to be pleasing.

Contemporary art is not what the eye views but rather what the artist's mind "feels" of the world.

The message was of a world of confusion, rebellion, and the accepted concept of the truth of untruths. The art pieces said that man is not perfectly formed; confusion has become a way of life. Actually it would seem that rebellion against conformity has turned non-conformity inside out until it is now the accepted norm.

The art pieces have a great deal of balance not only in visual concept but in the artist's explanatory reasoning. He has designed, amongst other, five structures, each about 20 inches tall, signifying the basic mechanical movements. These were built for a thesis at the Illinois Institute of Technology where he received his M. S. in Art Education. He received his B.A. from the Art Institute of Chicago and is a graduate of Chicago Vocations.

Robert is presently teaching Art II and Ceramics at Oak Lawn High School and Continuing Adult Education at Moraine Valley Junior College.

The sculptor has won four first place blue ribbons in 1972. The awards were given by the Bolingbrook Commons, Park Forest Winter Fair, Glenview and the Crete Women's Club.

In 1971, he won a second place in Crete and a third place in Barrington. In 1969, he placed third (painting and drawing) Rodge Art Association and received an Honorable Mention from the Ridge Summer Show, 1971.

Robert starts a creation with a rough sketch and progresses to a cutting torch on sheets of steel and long rods. Oxygen acetelene gas welding is followed by sanding, grinding, and treatment with acrylics and lacquers — all intermingled with pre-thought, instantaneous insight and inborn creativity. The finished product may or may not be quickly identifiable. It also may be stationary or kinetic (mechanical).

He likes the tradition of teaching but shuns traditional art.

"This is the 20th century and contemporary art is of our time."

As a teacher, he stresses creativity in his art classes and feels a need to be extremely creative himself. He has built a great deal of the furniture in the home occupied by the Dominiak family which includes his attractive wife, Susan, and young daughter, Dana.

Robert met Susan while she was student teaching at Oak Lawn High School. During the interview they good-naturedly kidded each other about student-teacher relationships. Susan, who also teaches art at Moraine Valley, appears to be one of her husband's strongest fans. She spoke little of several of her own lovely art works throughout the home but fairly beamed when explaining her husband's winning ribbons.

"... balance, not only in visual concept but in the artist's explanatory reasoning."

This is indeed the 20th century, as Robert remarked.

No other century has seen quite so much change. The 20th century is light and insight and it is moving.

Robert's sculptures range from the five basic mechanical movements to a futuristic warrior. One mind can create many thoughts while using the same materials and methods if that mind is artistic and creative.

"pre-thought, instantaneous insight and inborn creativity."

Robert carried the ancient handy man's tradition one step further when he created a "paper mache" rocking horse for daughter, Dana.

Post Office tells mail schedule

TINLEY PARK — When is the best time to mail Christmas gift parcels through the International mails and what are the postal regulations governing such shipments?

Postmaster Roman Mazurowski says that "Everyone who intends to mail Christmas gifts to friends and relatives living in other countries should know the answers to these questions."

Christmas gifts to foreign lands should be mailed according to the following schedule:

	Surface	Airmail
Far East	Now	Dec. 9
Near East and Africa	Nov. 1	Dec. 9
South and Central America	Nov. 11	Dec. 11
Europe	Nov. 11	Dec. 11
Canada and Mexico	Dec. 2	Dec. 14

Postmaster Mazurowski cautioned senders of parcels abroad to check carefully the shipping bans of countries to which they are mailing. "Each country has a list of articles to which they are mailing. Each country has a list of articles that are not permitted entry," Mazurowski said.

Czechoslovakia will not accept used clothing or used shoes. Iceland will not permit toys made of lead. Italy prohibits the entry of cigarette lighters and cigarette paper. Mexico does not permit candy containing chocolate.

"Be certain that whatever you send has been checked out with the list of that country's prohibitions; otherwise your gifts may be confiscated and never reach those for whom they are intended," warns Mazurowski.

Most countries refuse to permit fresh fruits and vegetables to be shipped in. Gift parcels for Eastern Germany should be labeled "German Democratic Republic." Most articles going to Poland are subject to customs duties even if sent as a gift.

Further information about foreign mailings may be obtained by calling the Foreign Mail section at the main post office, 353-2677, or the nearest post office in the area.

Volunteers assist camp

TINLEY PARK — The Stanley R. Garrity Chapter of the Order of DeMolay has recently completed a building project at the Shady Oaks Cerebral Palsy Camp in Will County.

The young men of the DeMolay chapter received work through a worker at the camp that there was need for an addition to the dining room. The matter was brought before the DeMolay membership and the project approved when it was pointed out that the camp did not have resources to hire a contractor.

The men started the work on Sept. 2 and finished the 10-foot extension the first part of October. The material was furnished by the camp, which is located at 159th Street and Parker Road.

The young men working on the project included Tracy Pettit, Steve Wydeveld, Hugh Pettit, Ed Chodl, Chuck Chodl, Ken Crouse, Russ Scanlan, Lee Gorman, Bill Pettit, Frank Garrett, Ross Houle, Dave Ellis, Paul Gerth, Roger Walski, Steve Wagner and Jeff Wilki.

The advisers were Harry Wydeveld, Dean Pettit and Paul Gerth, Sr.

Group expects to expand glass collection

ORLAND PARK — The monthly Board meeting of the Orland Park Junior Woman's Club was recently held with the majority of the discussion being their November 17th Home Sewn Fashion Show. Applications for entries must be submitted no later than November 1. For further information contact Home Life Chairman, Mrs. Patricia Lockman, at 349-2387. Tickets priced at $2.00 each are still available from Ticket Chairman, Mrs. Robert Mehling, at 349-2192. Home made refreshments will be served and several home made items will be among the raffle prizes.

Mrs. Edward Stahnke, Conservation Chairman, opened a discussion in regard to the Juniors expanding their monthly glass collection. They are in the process of conferring with owners of several sites in the Orland Park area in the hopes of setting up a larger collection center. At that time the Juniors will also collect newspapers. All money received from recycling glass and newspapers will be used to beautify the Orland Park community. The next regular glass collection will be on Saturday, October 28 behind the Orland Park Village Hall between 9:00 and 12:00 noon. This collection will be for glass only. Further information will be available when final plans for the expansion program are completed.

Mrs. Denis Sexton, President, thanked the many girls who helped the Lions on their candy day. It was a cold, rainy day but that didn't dampen the Juniors spirit!

The next regular meeting of the Juniors is scheduled for October 25th at 8:00 P.M. at the Orland Chateau. The program for that evening will be a humorous slide presentation by Joe and Alice McCloy. All area women are invited to attend.

It was also announced that Oct. 15-21 has been declared Brain Research Week. The declaration was made at the specific request of the Junior Organization of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Bremen Bank and Trust Company, 1972, 17500 S. Oak Park Ave., Tinley Park.

60 years of community service

TINLEY PARK — "I feel you are a part of the community, not just a building with people."

The above excerpt was taken from a Bremen Bank and Trust Company questionnaire recently returned by a resident of the area.

The Bremen Bank is indeed part of the community. Since opening day, Sept. 12, 1912, to the year of its 60th anniversary, 1972, the directors, officers and employees have taken an active part in community and church organizations.

The bank's officers have been involved in community leadership in many ways, such as: trustee and council members of churches; members of the VFW and American Legion; chairman of local Heart funds, Cancer Crusades and Salvation Army units; members of Jaycees, Sertoma, Lion's Club, Chamber of Commerce; Director of Drug Abuse foundation unit for research on modification of behavior; school trustee; local police pension fund board; Sunday school teachers.

New services recently added for their customer service include credit cards, student loans, trust services, drive-up banking and special accounts.

New policies recently added are listed as follows: free checking accounts with balances over $200; enlarged parking area; longer hours at drive-ups; daily interest on savings accounts; interest on Christmas Clubs; automation of savings and installment loans; accrual accounting; improved general ledger posting system; variety of ownership of savings accounts; finished lower level and remodeling for expansion; filming and organizing of old records and uniforms for employees.

Public relations activities include special exhibits on Holidays with tokens of appreciation to residents; exhibits for the Garden Club, 4-H local art departments, newspapers and travel bureaus; bank tours for local organizations; and contributions to the Drug Abuse program at the Tinley Park Mental Health Center.

The bank celebrated its 60th anniversary this year with a successful open-house including free refreshments, music, gifts, and a drawing for a tandem bike. Free family portrait drawings, and gifts were offered throughout the year along with various historical displays and corsages on Valentine's Day. In June, newlywed customers were given champagne glasses and in May, flower baskets were distributed.

The Bremen Bank and Trust Company, from its beginning, has offered the community services beyond expectations in the banking field.

The original bank building, 17316 Oak Park Ave., was improved for additional service in 1950, and, in 1966, the new bank building, 17500 Oak Park Ave., was completed; a building deserving of community pride. However, a building does not service the public. The officers, directors and employees service the community as representatives of the banking institution.

In 1939, bank assets were approximately $400,000. In 1972, assets were over $32 million. The employee list has grown from two employees in 1912, to 52 employees in 1972.

Matrimonial lawyer nods at re-marriage

By Marianne Scott

At the age of 45 or 50 today's woman has too many years ahead of her to tolerate a miserable marriage. She still has another 20 or 25 years to enjoy a second, happier marriage or a life on her own.

So stated Edward Rosenberg, matrimonial lawyer, in speaking last week to the Woodfield Jewish Congregation Sisterhood.

This has not always been so, he explained. People are living longer, and in better health than ever before in the history of man. Not too many years ago, few men or women lived much past the 25th year of marriage.

Rosenberg, vice president of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers, stressed that the economical picture is changing, too, another factor in the high divorce rate. Yet the greatest number of women who seek advice from a divorce lawyer do not go through with the divorce.

Co-speaker on the program was Dr. Marvin Ziporyn, psychiatrist, who also agreed that a woman should "split" rather than stumble through a disastrous marriage.

"Monogamy is not natural," said the doctor, who believes that couples have to work at making marriages pleasurable. "But 'work' is a dirty word," he added. Other dirty words are "competition" and "effort," said Dr. Ziporyn, who emphasized that most people today do not want to extend themselves. "They even take drugs to take the effort out of love-making!"

The doctor's definition of an ideal marriage is one in which both partners love each other, want to spend their lives looking after each other and making each other happy, asking nothing in return. "But then there is no such ideal marriage," he conceded.

We all have problems and the woman who feels "caged" because of children, household duties and responsibilities should put herself in the man's shoes.

"Men are in a cage too," remarked Ziporyn. "Most jobs are boring and many of us lead our lives in quiet desperation. It's the nature of reality that we do not get everything we want."

Both speakers traced the history of man-woman relationships back to the earliest known man, a hunting animal. It was pointed out that the anatomy of man has remained unchanged for 30,000 years; young pregnant females of 13 or found it awkward and difficult to chase animals. The infants were dependent on the women for survival and this became woman's responsibility. The women and children were dependent on the men for food and protection and this became man's responsibility.

However, with the easy life of today — affluence, grocery stores, pasteurized milk, contraception — the relationships of men and women are undergoing much re-evaluation. The roles are changing.

While an increasing number of marriages end at 15 or 20 years ("devastation" age) many more end much sooner. According to the speakers four out of every five marriages among couples under 20 years old end in divorce before 15 years. They marry for "what's in it for me?"

Both authorities agreed that marriage is too easy. "We have rigid, yet liberalized divorce laws, but few marriage laws."

During a question and answer session the speakers said that statistics show that children with one parent have no more juvenile delinquency or emotional problems than children with two parents. Kids will live up to or down to what you expect of them. Treat them as responsible people and they'll be responsible; treat them as kids, they'll sink in challenge.

Education tends to keep young people dependent," said Rosenberg. "It's the nature of our economy, they're not mature as they were in earlier societies."

The women asked: Why do men get into affairs? It's danger and excitement," stated Rosenberg.

It was also suggested by the speakers that "affairs" often benefit a marriage (as long as the man isn't caught). A man with an affair can afford to be more tolerant at home; it does much for his morale; he is more relaxed and not worried about dullness.

Unfortunately, there wasn't time to discuss the pros and cons of a woman having an "affair."

Venereal disease carriers

may not show visible signs

A man can be a carrier of the gonorrhea organism without showing any of the symptoms of venereal disease, says Dr. Frank L. Roberts, a noted medical researcher.

Previous studies revealed that women can carry the disease without showing any symptoms, but this is the first research indicating that the same can be true of men.

Roberts and his colleagues studied and treated 14 of the 61 men they found who were carriers but showed no symptoms. Of the 14, only one eventually developed symptoms. In four of the 14 men the disease disappeared without treatment.

"These carriers without symptoms," concluded Dr. Roberts, "must knowingly infect many women, and are potent factors in distributing the disease."

By any name, apples are good

Fresh apples for delicious and nutritious snacking are featured on the October plentiful foods list. For the fourth consecutive year, the apple crop is predicted to total about 150 million cartons.

In Illinois, the three most popular varieties are Jonathan, Red Delicious and Golden Delicious. However McIntosh, Rome Beauty and Winesaps are also marketed here.

The Jonathan apple, small to medium in size, has a dark red color. It is juicy, moderately tart, tender, crisp and fragrant. Excellent for eating raw, Jonathans are also good for pies and sauces.

The five bumps on the blossom end of Delicious apples distinguish them from the other varieties. A native Midwesterner, the Red Delicious is preferred for eating raw and for use in salads. Golden Delicious apples are good all-around apples for snacking and for cooking.

The McIntosh, an especially fragrant apple, has a bright, deep-red skin that is striped with a more vivid blue-red (carmine). It descended from one tree planted by a Canadian family of that name. Marketed mostly in northern Illinois, it is a medium- to small-sized apple, crisp, hard, juicy and moderately tart. Use it for eating raw, cooking or baking.

The Rome Beauty, an Ohio native, rates as one of the finest apples for general cooking and baking. A large apple, it has yellow or green skin that is mottled or striped with red. Rome Beauties are juicy, slightly tart, firm and rather crisp.

One of the oldest varieties in the United States, the Winesap apple dates back to colonial times. This small- to medium-sized apple has deep, bright red skin marked with small, scattered, whitish dots. Winesaps are good for all purposes — eating raw, general cooking or baking whole.

Playground equipment may not mean 'fun or playtime'

Nearly one million injuries occur each year because of unsafe playground equipment. And that number represents five percent of all injuries associated with consumer products.

To help solve this problem, the Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety has been meeting with manufacturers to recommend design changes to make playground structures more safe.

These recommended changes may be used as guidelines when shopping for your child's play equipment:

Better instructions on how to assemble and install playground equipment.

Non-removable caps for hollow metal tubing so a child's finger cannot be caught.

Lock washers or self-locking nuts on all bolts to prevent them from loosening and protruding dangerously or allowing the equipment to collapse.

Closed hooks instead of open-ended hooks such as those in swing chains. Removal of V-Sections and other dangerous openings where a child might get caught.

By reporting accidents related to playground equipment, you too can help improve playground equipment. Such accidents should be reported to: Playground Equipment, Bureau of Product Safety, FDA, 5401 Westbard Avenue, Bethesda, Maryland 20016. Give information about the circumstances and type of accident plus the brand and model number of the play equipment involved.

Food and Drug Administration's Bureau of Product Safety has taken steps to protect your children by removing unsafe toys from the market.

FDA bans unsafe toys from sale and provides a list of such toys upon request. If companies refuse to recall banned toys voluntarily, the FDA seizes them.

In some areas, FDA "consumer deputies" check store shelves to be certain banned toys are removed. These deputies also look for unsafe toys that have not been previously banned.

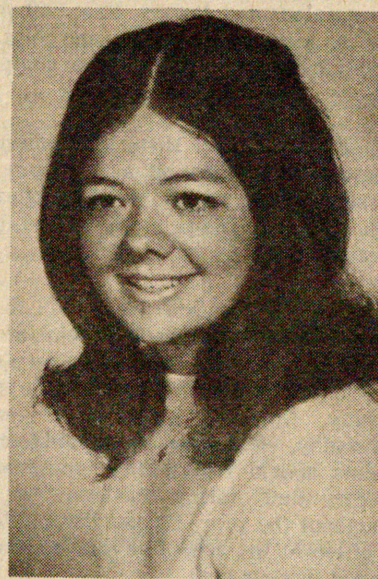

If you believe a toy is hazardous and should not be on the market, notify L. J. Chisholm at the Product Safety Bureau, Food and Drug Administration, 5401 Westbard Avenue, Bethesda, Maryland 20016. Include a description of the toy, giving its name and model number, if possible. Also include the name and address of the store selling the toy plus that of the manufacturer or distributor.

Is that wrapper needed?

By Monica Wilch

"If you can't beat 'em, join 'em." This seems to be the philosophy behind Illinois proposals to build a recreational mound out of solid wastes — for lack of any better disposal method.

But at the rate solid waste is growing, this "solution" may in a few years turn the Great Plains into a mountain range.

Looking at the source of the problem seems more logical, and one of the sources is the packaging mania of merchandisers. A prime example — cosmetics.

Why is it necessary for a simple eyebrow pencil or lipstick to be encased in a plastic (non-biodegradable) bubble mounted on an oversized piece of paperboard? Not only does this packaging create a lot of unnecessary waste; it is a pain to open.

However, a survey of cosmetic manufacturers and retailers indicated that the industry does have some valid reasons for this packaging and that consumers have brought much of it on themselves.

Every manufacturer and retailer questioned by The Herald named pilferage as the No. 1 cause of elaborate packaging. David C. Brittain, executive vice president of Maybelline Co., said that the company's retail chain customers "insist upon this type of packaging to assist them in their efforts to cut down on pilferage."

Brittain was referring to the plastic bubble assemblage, and William Hardwick, public relations director for Max Factor & Co., concurred that this particular package is used as "a pilferage preventative measure."

A Revlon representative in Montgomery Ward's cosmetic department at Randhurst, Betty Sullivan, confirmed that shoplifting is a big problem at the cosmetic counter. She demonstrated how customers take articles out of boxes, leaving that particular kind of package behind. (The bubble on cardboard is not so easily opened, and bulkier to carry off than just the cosmetic article.)

Miss Sullivan also pointed out that the cost of pilferage and consequent packaging is passed on to the consumer. "Cosmetics themselves are much cheaper than what they are sold for," she said.

She added that the worst offenders in cosmetic pilferage are girls 12 to 14 years old. A cosmetic clerk at Wieboldt's said "people even steal the testers."

Significantly, the only store reporting "not much pilfering" of cosmetics was Carson, Pirie Scott, where most cosmetics, other than testers are kept in cases. Wieboldt's and Montgomery Ward's both use the self-selection stands.

And this is the second point to be made — that consumers insist on serving themselves rather than have a clerk wait on them. Thus, many stores are reluctant to put their merchandise in cases, which would solve both the packaging and pilfering problems.

A third reason for packaging, according to Miss Sullivan, is to prevent contamination. She said customers will stick their fingers into any cosmetic that is left on a counter unpackaged and then, of course, it can't be sold.

But not to be overlooked is the marketing value of packaging is also used to attract the consumer. That's what he notices first.

This economic factor, aside from any anti-pilfering or anti-contamination purpose, appears to be the real determinant behind packaging — and will undoubtedly be the crux of any battle to reduce packaging.

That much was obvious in Hardwick's reply to the Herald. After assuring us — almost perfunctorily — that "Max Factor is well aware . . . of the problem of solid waste disposal," he launched into a glowing report of the company's packaging design and development facilities, "one of the largest and most efficient . . . in the country."

He pointed out that "many of our packages have received awards not only for beauty of design, but also for their construction and functional attributes," and added that the company intends to "maintain such leadership by improving our packing and packaging concepts."

Simply stated, packaging is vital to the economic success of most manufacturers. It is unlikely that any are contemplating any reductions in that department. Moreover, one notes unhappily that "beauty of design" still seems to rank much higher than disposability.

Michael Pope, the president of a consulting engineering firm, suggests that consumers express their disapproval of overpackaging by leaving wrappings in the store and by writing to the manufacturers. Corporate addresses can be found in various business directories, such as the one published by Dun and Bradstreet, in your local library.

Society changes views on birth control ideas

A woman's reproductive life has been the cause of concern and controversy for centuries. It has only been in the last hundred years that partial control over when and how many children will be born has been turned over to the American woman.

Historically, marriage and child-bearing within marriage have been encouraged by all societies. Failure to have children has been considered a sin, disgrace and even cause for divorce. With high mortality rates, childbearing was the practical means of enabling a society to survive.

As medical knowledge, nutrition and other factors lowered the death rate people sought to control the size of the family. As early as 1798 Englishman Thomas Malthus published his "Essay on Population" warning of eventual overpopulation.

English contraception advocates influenced the birth control movement in the United States. Attempts to inform the American public of birth control methods were met with vilification, antagonism and finally legislation. In 1873 a federal statute, the Comstock Law, classed contraception information with obscenity and banned its distribution by mail.

Although the manufacture and sale of birth control devices was becoming a big business before the turn of the century, and although the birth rate was declining at an accelerating rate, medical books and textbooks refrained from teaching anything about birth control and the subject was not considered fit for newspapers or polite conversation.

In 1914 Margaret Sanger put the issue of birth control in the public eye. In her continued attempts to inform the public through magazines, pamphlets, lecture tours and her eventual birth control clinic she made headlines as she was arrested, tried and imprisoned.

Throughout the 20th century the attitude towards contraception and family planning, for the most part, have liberalized. The majority of Protestant churches have made public statements in favor of family planning through contraception. The nation has become increasingly aware of ecology and has pointed the finger of overpopulation at one cause of pollution problems.

Birth control clinics operate freely (the Cook County Department of Public Health has opened a family planning clinic at their north district office, 1401 Oakton St., Des Plaines), contraception is being discussed openly through the media and the topic is a common one in family living classes in high schools.

Reservations are now being taken for the Second annual Christmas Party-Hayride for Frankfort Square residents. Last year's affair was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick M. Hanley, 309 Holly Lane. However, according to Mrs. Hanley (who organized the event) it would be impossible to do so again this year, because of the increased population of the development. Consequently, in order to accommodate as many couples as possible, the party will be at St. George and the Dragon Restaurant, Matteson, Ill.

Scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 16, the hayride is tentatively set for 6 p.m. at the Schmaedeke farm at St. Francis Road. Guests will return with ample time to change clothing before the party begins at 8 p.m. at the restaurant, where a buffet dinner of turkey, ham, beef and chicken with various side dishes will be served. Also, while soft drinks will be available, guests will enjoy an "open bar." Music for dancing will be provided.

The event, which is not associated with any local organizations, is planned by Mrs. Hanley for the enjoyment of all area residents, including the quad-miniums. Cost per couple is still being negotiated; estimates have been given at less than $20 per couple. It is imperative that interested couples contact one of the following persons before Friday, Oct. 20, at 2 p.m.: Mrs. Hanley, 469-3669; Mrs. Steve Griffen, 469-3494 or Mrs. Richard Haave, 469-3337. Arrangements must be completed with the restaurant management at that time.

News Briefs

Alarm systems

MOKENA — The Mokena village board has adopted a similar ordinance to that passed by the Village of New Lenox to regulate and control electronic alarm systems installed in business houses and homes and are connected with the police communications center at New Lenox. This center serves the villages of New Lenox, Frankfort and Mokena.

According to officials the devices controlled under the ordinance are sensory apparatus which automatically send an alarm over regular telephone wires.

Those selling or leasing such devices must obtain a permit at the village hall and also pay a license fee.

The communications center is to have control over the manufacture and installation of the devices and those who install the alarms are required to furnish the village with a list of the users.

One of the reasons for adoption of such ordinances, it was explained, will be to reduce the number of false alarms that use up manpower and equipment.

A copy of the ordinance adopted by the Mokena village board has been published in pamphlet form and is open to public inspection at the village hall.

Vets' Day dance

FRANKFORT — Annual dance of the Frankfort Police Department is to be held on Veterans Day, Nov. 11, in the Veterans Memorial Building, it has been announced by Police Chief T. A. Massey.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. There will be two bands, both made up of Lincoln-Way High School musicians, so both floors of the building will be used for dancing.

Tickets are $2.50 each, or $5 a couple. Proceeds will be used to purchase supplies and equipment for the auxiliary police.

In the past the police dance has been well attended. Tickets are already selling.

Halloween parade

FRANKFORT — A parade for the young fry, to be followed later by a dance for teenagers is planned for Halloween. The affair is sponsored by the Frankfort Chamber of Commerce and the Frankfort police department.

The parade will start at 4 p.m. from the Frankfort State Bank parking lot, will move north on Ash Street to Kansas, west on Kansas to Hickory and then south to Nebraska, disbanding on the municipal parking lot, according to Police Chief T.A. Massey. There will be prizes given for the best costumes, it was said, and in all likelihood there will be gifts for everyone.

The young fry — the trickers-o-treater crowd — must have finished their rounds by 7:30 and home for the evening. The county-wide hours for tricks and treats are 4 to 7 p.m. The reason Frankfort has extended the hour to 7:30 is because the village board adopted such a schedule prior to the time the county hours were decided upon, it was explained.

The teen dance is to be held in the Veterans Memorial Building, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Halloween night. There will be prizes given there too for the best costume.

The Frankfort Chamber of Commerce is contributing $500 to the Halloween program and the police department is attending to details.

Chaperones are needed for the teen dance, it was announced, and volunteers are asked to get in touch with Chief Massey.

Visiting firemen

FRANKFORT — Six men from Frankfort's Volunteer Fire Department last week visited the six schools within the Frankfort Fire Protection District, including the Green Garden School, Frankfort, Chelsea, Arbury Hills, Ann Rutledge and Frankfort Square Schools.

The firemen, after conducting timed fire drills, spoke with the children and their teachers and instructed them in good safety habits and methods of fire prevention. Many of the children were invited to inspect the fire-fighting equipment made available by the department.

During the drills, firemen checked fire alarm systems, noted evacuation procedures used, inspected storage rooms and examined the schools to be certain that no fire hazards were present. Department Chief Milton Batson will issue a complete report to each school principal, outlining results of the inspections.

Also, children were invited to participate in the poster contest. Three posters from each grade at each school will be selected and placed on display for judging during October at the fire department. The contest, with the theme "Fire Safety in the Home," is open to kindergarten through fifth grade students. Certificates will be awarded for the best posters.

School visitation

MOKENA — Mokena public School District 159 will observe American Education Week Oct. 22-28 by opening the doors of its schools to visitors, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The schools will conduct their regular programs and demonstrations throughout the week, according to Supt. James Ennis, to mark the week's theme, "Make Education Top Priority, so parents and guests can see the schools as they are."

American Education Week, Supt. Ennis explained, has been observed annually since 1921 to encourage local citizen support and active participation in the improvement of education. This year's program, he said, will stress the importance of giving education priority in funding and citizen concern.

Sponsors of the nationwide event are the National Education Association, the American Legion, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the U.S. Office of Education.

Picture perfect

NEW LENOX — A photographic map which will show all the home-sites in the 90-square mile district of Lincoln-Way High School has been purchased by the board.

It will cost about $900 but Supt. Joe Kruzich said it was a necessity in checking transportation routes and homes, and will have hours of driving and walking inspection tours. The map is a real view. It will be extremely useful, it was said, in enabling school officials to remain conversant with all the new subdivisions and housing starts in the district. Kruzich said the map should be clear enough so that every house in the district can be seen. It will be six by seven feet in size.

The board tabled for the time being a recommendation that school buses be equipped with two way radio so communication with the school can be maintained.

Smoother ride

FRANKFORT — It's no wider but it's a lot smoother — U.S. 30 that is — between Wolf and Elsner roads. State crews applied blacktop to the battered concrete surface of the road, making it easier on springs and spines. The work did delay arrival at school of some Lincoln-Way High School students but as far as can be determined no protests, formal or otherwise, were lodged by the students.

There are plans and there is talk of widening U.S. 30 for a couple of blocks in New Lenox to relieve the bottleneck at the Cedar Road traffic lights. The bottlenecks will now move to the points where the road will be widened, it has been pointed out.

U.S. 30 has been widened to the east for years but is conforming to the traditional two-lane type of thoroughfare to the west, except for an occasional spot here and there where it makes junctions with the super highways.

The township portion of LaPorte Road has been completely re-done by Highway Commissioner Walter Yunker.

Back to school

ARBURY HILLS — School District 161, which is made up of Arbury Hills and Ann Rutledge schools, will observe American Education Week Oct. 22-28. All parents and persons interested in the schools are invited to visit classes.

An open house will be featured as follows:

Tuesday, Oct. 24, Grades 5-8, Arbury Hills School.

Wednesday, Oct. 25, Grades K-6, Ann Rutledge School.

Thursday, Oct. 26, Grades 1-5 Frankfort Square (at Ann Rutledge) and Grades K-4, Arbury Hills.

"Make Education Top Priority" is the theme for Education Week this year. Education week has been observed every year since 1921 to encourage the support of citizens for the schools and the cause of education.

Members of the board of education and the school administration urge citizens of the district to visit the schools, especially next week. They will be extra welcome, Supt. Fanti said.

Tuttle names two to water board

MOKENA — Chester Ebert, head of the sewer and water committee, and Marvin Homering, financial committee head of the Mokena village board have been appointed to the committee of municipal officials who will work with the Public Water Commission on its water program. The appointments were made by Mayor Will Tuttle at the recent session of the village board. Robert Broucek, executive director of the Public Water Commission, who presented lengthy report of the commission's progress.

He said that the seven municipalities that make up the commission have been "kept up to date on what's happening."

There has been a lot of talk about the commission and its objectives in recent weeks. The commission has reached the stage, it was explained, where money is needed to complete engineering studies for a proposed $50-million facility to pump water from the Kankakee River to the seven communities. Until the commission is in a position to finance its own needs it sought approval of short-term interim financing from the seven communities. This went by the board when the Joliet city council voted 5 to 2 against participation in the financing. Joliet's share of the proposed $900,000 in short-term notes came to 44 per cent, or $435,897. With Joliet's action the original program appears to be dead, it was said. The commission is said to be endeavoring to come up with another program which would be acceptable.

Broucek cited the Stanley Report and studies by Dr. William Ackerman, director of the Illinois Water Survey Board, predicting a serious water shortage in the Joliet area. Dr. Ackerman, Broucek, predicted in 1962 there would be a water shortage in the Joliet area by 1975.

"We're taking water out of the aquifers serving this area faster than they can recharge," Broucek told the Mokena board.

He said that the aquifer supplying the Joliet area is dropping a minimum of 15 feet a year, and added that Dr. Ackerman predicts it will be dry in 10 to 15 years.

"It is a common myth that water flows in the deep aquifer," Broucek added, "but it takes 100 years to recharge the aquifer one foot."

Broucek said that water studies recommend an alternate source of water other than wells and Kankakee River will provide it.

He told board members that the commission's report is based on 100 per cent service but added that an agreement will be worked out under which communities could buy half of their water, or less, from the commission.

"The commission feels the aquifer serving this region should not be pumped dry," Broucek said, "Municipalities should utilize two sources of water."

Mayor Tuttle told the board he had attended the council meeting at Joliet and got the idea that the Joliet officials felt they weren't informed and didn't believe Dr. Ackerman.

"The Joliet councilmen said they did not receive reports from the water commission," Tuttle said. "I know he received a wealth of correspondence from the commission." He explained that the newsletters and reports from the commission came to him.

"I felt the commission was progressing and didn't pass the material along to the trustees," the mayor explained.

Broucek said that the commission could not afford to send copies of all the correspondence to every village official.

"We would have had to send out some 300 copies each mailing and we didn't have the money to do that," Broucek explained, "so we sent the information to the mayors of the communities."

Ebert and Homering will keep the village board informed as to the work of the commission now, Mayor Tuttle said.

Frankfort Square residents retain Wilson

FRANKFORT SQUARE — Eighty-nine residents of Frankfort Square recently cast their ballots in the first election of officers of the area's Homeowner's Association.

At the Oct. 10 meeting at the Arbury Hills School, members of the association chose six persons from a slate of 13 nominees, with acting ex officio David Wilson retaining his position in the presidency.

Other newly-elected officers include vice-president Lynn Black, treasurer Kenneth Morales, secretary Mrs. Peter Carollo and directors Michael Reilly and Mrs. Terrence Parfet.

These officers will each serve a term of one year, until Sept., 1973, with the next election scheduled for May, 1973, as provided in the Homeowner's Association's by-laws.

Other business at the Oct. 10 meeting included reports from two committees. The first, the Committee on the Proposed Water Rate Increase, is headed by Mrs. Virginia Canty, 301 Jonquil Lane. Mrs. Canty reviewed the Sept. 20 hearing of Prestwick Utilities at the Illinois Commerce Commission offices in Chicago.

According to Mrs. Canty, a petition to intervene to prevent the rate increase has been filed with the commission and an attorney, William Flynn, has been retained to protect the interests of the area residents. Also, records show that while Prestwick Utilities claims to be operating at a deficit, profits were made by the company in 1969, '70 and '71.

The committee asks that in order to provide written proof that the area water bills are already excessive residents send two receipts of water bills to Mrs. Canty. She will present these to the I.C.C. at the next hearing on Wednesday, Nov. 1, at 10 a.m. at the offices of the Illinois Commerce Commission, 160 N. LaSalle St.

The Committee for Safety and Security chairman, William Reid, presented a program which outlined preventive measures to insure the safety of Frankfort Square. It was determined that further research is necessary before any program can be adopted by the community. Further reports will be given as the study proceeds.

Supt. of School District 161, Aldo Fanti, spoke briefly to the group on the up-coming referendum for the new junior high school. According to Mr. Fanti, the district has no bonding power at this time, therefore, the school board members have filed a petition with the Illinois State Building Commission asking for federal funds to finance the proposed school.

The funds, if granted, will total approximately $660,000, and will be repayable over a 16-year period, interest-free.

If the issue is approved, the school may be complete and ready for occupancy in September, 1974. If the referendum is voted down, the junior high will be delayed until September, 1975, or as late as 1976, Fanti said.

"This is something you'll have to grapple with yourselves," he said, referring to the burden on the taxpayers. "But I'm really very excited about it, in the interests of higher education."

Lincoln-Way selects Thomson

NEW LENOX — James Thomson, Lee Avenue, Manhattan, has been appointed to the Lincoln-Way High School board to succeed Kenneth Mundt, whose letter of resignation was accepted by the board with sincere regret.

Mundt was elected to the board in April, 1971 from the corporate area of Manhattan, so his successor also was chosen from a similar section. Thomson will serve until next April by appointment. At that time the place will be filled by election for an unexpired, one-year term.

Mundt was vice president of the board and at a special election at last Thursday night's meeting James Fagan, member from Mokena, was chosen for the post.

Thomson is employed in the appraisal department of the Joliet Federal Savings and Loan. He has five children, one in high school and the other four in grade school.

The board appointed Mrs. Beatrice Link as delegate to the Illinois School Boards convention to be held at Chicago in November. Dr. L.M. Webb was named as alternate delegate.

Supt. Joseph Kruzich reported to the board that he had obtained figures on the cost of equipping the present school facilities with air conditioning in the event it was decided to operate classes on a 12-month basis. The air conditioning, he said, would cost $761,400. This figure includes all the job, including the electrical work, replacing ceilings and walls. From figures dealing with the year-round school, at Romeoville consultant figures also run high, according to Supt. Kruzich.

All indications point to the fact that Lincoln-Way High will continue to operate on its present nine-month schedule for some time to come.

Following the regular board meeting the members, in their role as trustees for the Caroline Bentley Scholarship Fund spent some time in discussing it. There is some $250,000 in the fund, presently invested in short term treasury notes. It is estimated that when the fund is permanently invested it will produce about 15,000 a year for scholarships.

The scholarship board is making guidelines for the operation of the fund. A portion will be kept liquid, it was said.

Wildcats blank seventh victim

ORLAND PARK — The St. Michael Wildcats of Orland Park rolled to another smashing victory last week by defeating St. Brid of South Chicago, 48-0.

Because of the lack of competition, the Wildcats used their second units most of the game. Mike Kelper of the Wildcats scored two T.D.'s while playing defense. Chuck Wood, Billy Lyons, Tim Roth and quarterback, Pat Nelson also scored for the Wildcats.

According to Coach Bob Price, "Pat Nelson played a great game, scoring two touchdowns and leading the offensive drive all day and on defense. Mike Revord played very well stopping almost every offensive threat by St. Brid."

The Wildcat's record overall this year is 7-0 counting exhibition games and is 4-0 in conference play. Things might not be as easy next week for the Wildcats when they meet South St. Michael at Coyle field in Orland Park. South St. Michael is also undefeated but has been tied once by St. Stephen. This game will begin at 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Cheerleaders display new hope, uniforms

ORLAND PARK — The 1972-73 Carl Sandburg varsity cheerleaders have new hope for their football team this year along with new uniforms.

The girls are a welcome addition to each game. Members of the varsity cheerleading squad are Captain Barb Kline, Pam Kuncie, Sidney Check, Patti Marshall, Cline Horsh and Mary Heniff. Coach Mary Podewell and Coach Jean Panovich are both very happy with the girl's spirit and willingness to practice. In addition to the varsity squad, there are seven frosh-soph cheerleaders.

Along with the cheerleading squads, Sandburg has an added attraction called the pom-pom squad. The pom-pom squad will perform special dancing numbers at halftime during football and basketball games.

This being only the second year of having a squad such as this at Sandburg, Coach Mary Sparks is very pleased with their overall performance.

Coach Sparks also added, "the girls practice long and hard and yet their enthusiasm is high." There are 14 high stepping members on the squad.

Titans win, but worry first

TINLEY PARK — Saturday proved to be an afternoon of mixed emotions for the Titans of Tinley Park High School. Striving to maintain their undefeated status in South Suburban grid action, the Titans were happy — then worried — then narrowly happy again in their battle with the Olympians of Rich Central High School.

The Tinley squad captured the afternoon's victory status, 28-20. The 20 points with which the Olympians put forth their challenge, however, came entirely in the fourth period of play while the Tinley team was held to zero scoring position.

For three periods it appeared that the Titans were going to have just another easy season win. Then came the fourth period and an Olympian squad which had been previously well-concealed.

As the game got under way, the Titans took an early lead. Dan Bulow scored the first touchdown of the game on a four yard run. Quarterback Ed Neal ran the conversion to make the score 8-0 for the Titans.

In the second period, Charles Skinulis scored for the Titans on a five yard run. Skinulis brought in the extra points on his own touchdown, grabbing a pass from Neal. First half scored stood at 16-0 for the Tinley crew.

In the third period, the Titans moved out for two more touchdowns. Terry Shannon took a four yard pass from Neal for one of the scorings. Then George Miles made a one yard run for the final Tinley touchdown. Conversions on both plays were unsuccessful.

But then came the new Olympians. Central's Jim Sarmiento scored the first Olympian touchdown on a two yard run. That, apparently, was enough to re-establish the morale of his teammates.

Soon John Lowney made a three yard run for the second Olympian touchdown. Then came Dirk Schnittker, carrying the ball on a two yard run and the third Olympian score. Schnittker also ran a successful conversion, giving the Central team a fighting chance, 28-20, with only moments remaining in the competition.

A goal-line interception by the Titans, however, stopped the excitement and froze the score. The Tinley Park Titans had maintained their undefeated status. No one can say, however, that the Olympians didn't try.

Tinley Park faces Thornton Fractional North at home at 2 p.m. this Saturday.

Celtics lose fifth in row

MELROSE PARK — The Celtics of Providence High School went down in their fifth consecutive defeat of the season Saturday as the Walther Lutheran High School Broncos scored a 30-12 win.

The game was the second loss this year for Providence in Private School League competition.

Both teams were without score at the completion of the first period of play. Minutes into the second period, however, the Celtics' John Buchanan grabbed a 28 yard pass from quarterback Dick Mandella and proceeded for the first touchdown of the game.

The Celtics were capable of maintaining their 6-0 lead for approximately eight minutes. Then, with 50 seconds left before the completion of the first half, the Broncos' quarterback Mickey Houston advanced nine yards to tie the score at 6-6. That's the way it stood as the buzzer ended the half.

In the third quarter, the Celtics weren't even in the ballgame as the Broncos increased their scoring tally.

Walther Lutheran's Jim Jacobitz began the period taking the ball on the kickoff and proceeding 82 yards for the second Bronco touchdown. Jacobitz ran the conversion to set the score at 14-6.

Moments later Houston found Steve Balcer with a 34 yard pass to up the score to 20-6. Another conversion run added two more points to the Walther Lutheran tally.

In the fourth quarter, Buchanan took the ball for Providence and again managed six points, this time on a one yard run. But more successful passing action by Houston, coupled with another successful conversion run, gave the Broncos the final 30-12 win.

In the statistics, Providence was far ahead for the afternoon's competition. They tied the Broncos in first downs, 5-5, and were ahead in yards gained 198-159. In passing action Providence gained 113 yards to 72 for Walther Lutheran; the Celtics gained 85 yards in passing compared to 87 for the Broncos.

Providence faces Luther South in this weekend's grid action.

Lincoln-Way loses fifth

OAK LAWN — It was another unsuccessful afternoon Saturday for the Lincoln-Way High School Knights as the Oak Lawn High School grid squad scored a 25-12 win in Southwest Suburban Conference play.

It was the fifth consecutive loss for the Knights in this season's activity.

Scoring action began mid-way in the third period when the Knights' Jim Kollman managed a one yard run for the first touchdown of the game.

The Lincoln-Way momentum was cooled moments later, however, when Oak Lawn's Mike Patyk carried the ball on a 45 yard run and tied the score at 6-6. A conversion kick by Bruce Flanagan put Oak Lawn in the lead 7-6 at the completion of the quarter.

Major points were attained by both teams in the final period of play as Oak Lawn scored with three touchdowns and Lincoln-Way gained one.

Oak Lawn's Tom McGrath gained all three of his team's touchdowns on a 26 yard run, a 19 yard run, and a 40 yard run. Meanwhile, Knights' end Gary Varner took a 33 yard pass from quarterback Andy Jones for the final Lincoln-Way touchdown.

Oak Lawn gained a total of 404 yards while holding the Knights to 195 yards. Lincoln-Way was ahead in air action, gaining 59 yards to 46 for Oak Lawn.

Lincoln-Way will meet the Rich East High School team at 2 p.m. Saturday at Rich East.

Sandburg Eagles fly over Rich East Rockets, 16-3

ORLAND PARK — Last Friday night the Carl Sandburg Eagles beat Rich East 16-3 in another defensive effort by the Eagles.

Steve Nelson put the Eagles on the board with a wide angle 20-yard field goal to make the score 3-0 in the early going. Rich East came back minutes later to tie the game with a field goal of their own making it a 3-3 tie at halftime.

The game remained that way until the middle of the third quarter when senior quarterback Bill Nelson flipped a short look-in pass to tight end Steve Lietke who rambled 47 yards for the score. Sandburg missed the extra point and the Eagles had a shaky 9-3 lead.

Rusty Vincent of the Eagles put the game on ice in the fourth quarter with a 3-yard T.D. run making the final score 16-3.

Bill Nelson had an excellent passing day, completing four of five passes for 93 yards and one touchdown. Nelson also carried the ball 14 times gaining 23 yards. Rusty Vincent, the Eagles' most reliable back, carried the ball 15 times for 95 yards and a touchdown. Mike McNicholas also contributed 31 yards in nine carries for the Eagles.

The Eagle defense once more lived up to its reputation by holding the Rockets to just 63 yards rushing and 77 yards passing for a total of only 140 yards gained.

The Eagle defense is anchored by standouts Bill Hammertree, Earl Hammond, Mark Erickson and quarterback Bill Nelson, an excellent free safety. Coach Cliff Eade said, "The defense was outstanding throughout the game but our offense has to get rolling."

Coach Eade added, "The Eagles will have to move the ball against Reavis next week if they expect to win."

Eade is optimistic regarding Friday night's game as, "The boys always play well on homecoming and should be fired up for the game." The game against Reavis will be at Carl Sandburg under the lights Friday night at 8 o'clock.

This is a "must" game for the Eagles, not only because it is homecoming but a win would put them in second place behind the Homewood-Flossmoor Vikings in the Southwest Suburban Conference.

Message from Lincoln-Way Savings

NEW LENOX, ILLINOIS

Did you know that All Savings Certificates at various financial institutions are not the same? If you have a savings certificate, make these check marks.

- ☐ Check the minimum deposit (That could decide what interest rate you will receive)
- ☐ Check the interest rate. (Not all rates are the same)
- ☐ Check the terms. (It could make a lot of difference in rate).
- ☐ Check the penalties for early withdrawals. (Not all penalties are the same.)
- ☐ Check your savings certificate's conditions. (Can you borrow on your certificate and save your interest? Is advance notice required for withdrawal?)

Now when you have checked off all the facts you have on the savings certificates... call Mrs. Herman.

Raiders stump Tinley

OAK FOREST — The Oak Forest Park District Football Raider heavyweights romped over Tinley Park 34-7, Sunday, Oct. 15. The first touchdown for Oak Forest went on a bomb thrown from Tim Grahn to John Mowat for 43 yards and a touchdown. In the second quarter Rick Reilly blew through to snatch a punt right off the kickers foot to set up a touchdown on the three year line.

Mike Mault took a handoff on the three yard line from Tim Grahn and bulled his way into the end zone. Tim Brennan picked up a fumble later in the quarter but he fumbled and it was finally pounced on by Rick Reilly.

Tim Grahn threw a long pass that was picked off by a Bulldog and would have went for a touchdown, but the alert quarterback made a fine tackle to stop the runner. John Mowat intercepted a pass and a few plays later Tim Grahn found John Mowat open, and hit him with a 48 yarder good for a touchdown. The conversion was made by Randy Douglass with Jack Mitchell holding. In the third quarter Bill Languish jumped on a loose ball and soon after Mike Mault took the ball on the 20 and scampered into the end zone.

Randy Douglass converted again with Jack Mitchell holding. Kurt Snedden intercepted and ran it back 20 yards for the final touchdown. The heavyweights are now 4-1-1. Coach Bill Bartishell has nothing but praise for his team's fine performance.

Lightweight A team was defeated 18-0. Coaches Joe Kunkel and Mel Murphy were impressed by their lightweight's playing even though they were defeated. This was the lowest score the undefeated Bulldog team won by this season so far. The defense held the Bulldogs scoreless in the second half but the offense couldn't get on the scoreboard. Dean Runyan recovered a fumble in the third quarter and later left the game because of jammed fingers, he returned in the fourth quarter. Mark Little also recovered a fumble in the third quarter.

The Pee Wee A's were stunned 2-0.

Vikings maintain advantage

OAK FOREST — It was another big weekend for the Oak Forest Flag Football teams as the race for the championship in the senior league really tightened up. The Medema Builders Packers topped the Spicer Realtors Chiefs 10-6 and the Oak Forest Trustees Vikings rolled over Chet and Lucy's Bears 32-0.

In the Junior League the Fieldcrest 49er's remained unbeaten as they romped to a 46-0 win over the Royal Chrysler Rams and the Maurer Construction Colts beat the winless Fieldcrest Raiders 32-16.

In the first game played at Fieldcrest Park Colt Rod Humpal scored three touchdowns and two conversions. Colt Kurt Mayer tallied one touchdown and two conversions. Raiders Ed Benninger ran for two touchdowns and one conversion and Raider Mark Canal scored the final conversion. The heroes of the day for the Vikings were Mark Van Dommelon and Don Neson, who scored two touchdowns apiece followed by one touchdown by Viking Jay Brookhouse and a conversion by Danny Griffin in the 32-0 blanking of the Bears.

In Gingerwood Park in the first quarter 49er Dave Biscan was the first to draw blood as he ran 20 yards for a tally followed by a conversion by Mike Windhorst. In the second quarter 49er Dale Reams ran 37 yards on a triple reverse to pay dirt. Jeff Weber made the conversion. Two minutes later 49er Dale Reams took a 20 yard pass play in for a score. Ten minutes into the third quarter Dave Biscan scored his second touchdown on a three yard plunge on a slant. Weber made his second conversion.

Six minutes in the fourth quarter Reams made a 37 yard end run pay off with Weber making his third conversion.

The last scoring play of the game came when Reams intercepted a Ram pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown and dependable Weber came through with his fourth conversion.

The last scoring play of the game came when Reams intercepted a Ram pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown and dependable Weber came through with his fourth conversion.

The 49er defense kept the Rams off stride just enough to make some key plays go afoul. In the second game the Medema Packers Doug Kurecki faked a pass and ran 20 yards for a touchdown with just six minutes gone in the first quarter. Packer Mike Janicek scored the conversion. At seven minutes of the second quarter Packer George Uthe caught the Chiefs quarterback behind the end zone for a safety. Both teams fought hard to hit pay dirt but the defense of both were superb.

At eight minutes of the third quarter Spicer Chief Jeff Traves took a screen pass and romped 35 yards for a score. The Chiefs were threatening several times during the fourth quarter but the Packer defense held on to a 10-6 victory.

The football games are open to the public and admission is free. Games start at noon on Sunday and are played at Fieldcrest and Gingerwood Parks.

Aetna gives drivers in Illinois a new break on auto insurance.

Aetna just threw away the rule book and the rate book for auto insurance to give you a better deal on costs and coverage. We call it the All Driver Plan.

Here's how it works.

If you have a good driving record, chances are you're getting a break on your insurance costs. Well, we can probably give you an even greater break.

With a fair driving record, and one or two fender benders over the past couple of years, you're most likely paying more for your coverage. But with our new approach you probably won't have to pay as much.

For drivers who've been involved in repeated accidents or violations, and have trouble getting insurance, we've found a way to insure them with broad coverage. And we'll give them the best guarantee in the industry on renewing their policy.

Call us today. Or stop in and let us show you the 10 new ways you can qualify for lower rates or broader coverage. We think you've got a lot to gain.

Tinley clinches division crown

TINLEY PARK — The Tinley Bulldogs lightweight squad clinched a division championship last Sunday as they beat the Oak Forest Raiders 18-0. The Bulldogs, who had a 5-0 conference record going into the game, were two games ahead of the rest of the teams in their division.

Oak Forest and Midlothian were the next closest teams with 3-2 records. The Tinley team have two games before the league championship. Tinley will meet either New Lenox or Romeoville for the championship.

Sunday's score was no indication of the battle Tinley ahd. The Bulldogs, who had beaten the Raiders in the first meeting of the year 46-0, were lucky to get away from this game with a victory. The Raiders who came to play ball, proved to be a very much improved ballclub.

The Bulldogs did all of their scoring within six minutes between the first and second quarters. The first score came on a two-yard dive from quarterback Marty Bothwell. He snuck past the Raiders' interior lineman and ended up in the endzone. The second touchdown was an exact repeat of the first. Quarterback Bothwell followed his center Troy Matz right up the middle and had made the score 12-0 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Scott Stuckly scored the next touchdown which proved to be the final one of the day. This score came in the middle of the second quarter on a five yard run.

After this score it was all Oak Forest. The Tinley offense seemed to die while the Oak Forest offense came alive in the second half. The Tinley defense managed to hold the Raiders from scoring, but that was about all. The Bulldog defense played three-fourths of the second half on the field. Everytime the Tinley defense gave the ball to their offense, the offense would give it right back. The Bulldog offense passed up two opportunities for a score on the Raider 15 yard line because of two fumbles.

At the end of the day, however, the Bulldogs still had the score along with the statistics on their side. The Bulldogs ended up with 146 total yards compared to the raiders 80.

The Bulldogs will be traveling to Lemont next week in search of their seventh conference win as well as their tenth overall.

Arlene Barry and driver trainer Russ Bartlett worked together for some 20 hours during training. Bartlett has his students behind the wheel driving after the second hour of training.

If there were no 'ifs'

School bus would be on time

By Mary Straub

SCHOOL BUS. STOP ON SIGNAL! Those enormous black and yellow buses may look unfriendly to children just beginning their school careers, but before long bus and child become too well acquainted. It is then especially that the bus driver must be alert for the unexpected, non-thinking actions of the youngsters. How are drivers chosen and trained?

I visited the Illinois School Bus Company in Crestwood to seek the answers. I found offices that were quiet and placid—that was last month before school opened. Today those offices are bursting with office personnel, drivers and re-routing are carried on as part of the daily routine.

I was a passenger in a school bus driven by trainee, Arlene Barry, 15438 Pauline and driver trainer, Russ Bartlett, Charlie Nangle, Oak Forest, also a trainee, accompanied us.

Bartlett believes that new drivers must not be molly-coddled, so Arlene was directed to travel some narrow, winding streets in Oak Forest, practicing on-hill starts and getting the huge vehicle safely around short corners.

Arlene began her 20 hour training with 2 hours in the classroom. Then she found herself behind the wheel of a 5 speed shift International bus, "I once drove a two ton truck for the post office, but it was a standard shift. This was very different for me at first," she said.

As we jogged along Bartlett explained, "Each student driver must have 16 hours of driving time to get acquainted with bus length and so forth. He is double-checked by two trainers.

We have up to four driver trainers, so if a student just can't seem to grasp the idea with one trainer, he is passed along to another trainer until we're absolutely certain that he just won't make it as a bus driver."

It seems that some people can't judge length or get accustomed to 5 speed clutching. Or, most importantly, set the knob for smooth starts and stops. Commented Bartlett, "It's essential for a driver to understand that most kids ride with their mouths on the metal bar on the seat ahead. Poor, rough braking could result in a hurt child."

When, on the basis of a person's application for employment, she or he is accepted (70 per cent are women), she is given a Rules of the Road booklet to study. She gets a learner's permit, takes a written "C" truck test, an eyesight exam and general physical with chest X-ray.

A license check from the State shows past traffic violations and police records. Within a year the student driver must take and pass a Red Cross first aid course.

Said Bartlett, "The Superintendent of Public Instruction has gotten serious about qualifications. If a driver neglects to have a yearly X-ray and physical, her permit is revoked and she must take all the steps from the beginning again."

Thirty days after licensing, the driver will take a written test consisting of 100 true and false questions. Examples: Truck-tractors having only 2 axles need not have brakes on front wheels. (F); Drivers shall not use turn signals as 'do pass' or 'Okay to pass' for vehicles approaching from the rear. (T)

Each driver must thoroughly know her bus, and 30 days after licensing will have a road test form filled out by her trainer, stating she has this knowledge.

We toured the shops. All buses are completely serviced at this location.

Each gets a tune-up every 10,000 miles and a periodic safety maintenance check each 2,000 miles, consisting of a grease job and heater and exhaust system check. Wheels are pulled twice yearly to assure braking safety.

Illinois School Bus has contracts with 26 schools in the area, giving 44,000 rides per day. It employs about 130 drivers and has 150 buses in service. There are 45 dispatchers who co-ordinate with schools and keep communications open between bus driver, office and school.

John Benish, President, commented on complaints against drivers—"Some of them are warranted, but others are not. Of course, it's always difficult to judge any particular complaint, but I believe we do so to the best of our ability and knowledge, having had close association with each of our drivers."

He added, "We know what a responsibility it is to transport a bus loaded with children, whether they are preschool age or in their teens. We strive for safety at all times."

Benish informed us of the many calls the company receives pertaining to buses arriving late. "If there were no bad weather problems, if parents wouldn't stop the buses to talk to the drivers, if buses didn't occasionally malfunction, if children weren't late, if drivers could be on the job every day, and if road construction didn't slow the route, well—we'd have no difficulties and everything would be carried on according to the clock."

While touring with Arlene, we came across such unanticipated residential road construction. It was an obstacle course for Arlene, and a slowing factor was she trying to reach school at a designated time.

On the first two days that Arlene drove her heavy bus overflowing with chattering youngsters, she was accompanied by a trainer who gave her moral support and last minute tips. From then on, Arlene, like other drivers, became the sole guardian and authority of her vehicle.

Snow!

Tire manufacturer sees record season

The fall of 1971 was the mildest in the last 13 years east of the Mississippi, but a return to seasonal temperatures this year should boost winter tire sales to a record 19 million units, say economists at The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Motorists in 20 snow belt states stretching from Maine to the Dakotas will purchase 80 per cent of that total, the forecasters say. Two of every three auto tires they buy from now to January will be a new winter tire.

Nationwide, says Goodyear, winter tires will account for roughly half of all the auto tires sold during the final quarter of 1972.

This year's sales should top year-ago figures by 4½ per cent, or some 835,000 tires.

Introduced in the U. S. shortly after World War II, winter tires have grown in popularity until they now represent 14 per cent of the replacement market for new auto tires.

Another famous Goodyear product is the Polysteel tire which has proven that Goodyear products have been tested and refined to the razor's edge. Visualize any tire being driven over rows upon rows of sharply honed cleavers. Few tire manufacturers would have the courage to do it. Goodyear did and the results were amazing.

A one-time shot? Guess again. The Goodyear polysteel tire took 1,564 cuts, then went on to run 100 miles at 70 miles per hour — all without the loss of air!

What makes it so tough? Two belts of steel cord to resist impact and penetration in the tread area. In order to keep those bone-jolting shocks from reaching the passenger are the flexible polyester cord soaks up shocks and bumps.

Although the average tire buyer won't run his auto over rows of cleavers it's a comfort to know that when the driver of a car runs over glass, metal or rocks he's protected.

Interested in snow tires or the Polysteel tire? Stop in at the Park Forest Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Service Store, 80 S. Orchard, Park Forest. New manager at the store, Rich Johnston, will be more than happy to answer any questions pertaining to his company's products.

In addition to offering the motoring public fine tires Goodyear also provides expert automotive services. Those services include: a "Snap-back" engine tune-up brake relining, and front-end alignment — all offered at rock bottom prices. (For further information about these services see Goodyear's advertisement in this section.)

The store will be open Mondays and Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The object is to run through the tires, not scale them, but then few football players have ever had to work out with this type of sports equipment. The nearly 18-inch-wide tires are specially built by Goodyear for Indianapolis-type race cars — and not for peewee football players.

Lincoln offers new town car

Lincoln-Mercury Division, coming off its greatest model-year sales performance in history, offers completely restyled full-size Mercurys and numerous refinements and engineering improvements for all of its 1973 models.

To meet Federal requirements, all 1973 Lincoln-Mercury cars have a new front bumper system designed to prevent significant damage to safety-related components in 5 mph frontal impact into a flat barrier. The new rear bumper system offers protection in 2.5 mph impacts.

In addition, all Lincoln-Mercury car line engines are equipped with improved exhaust emission control systems to curb oxides of nitrogen.

All 1973 models are designed to meet the new Federal standard which requires that most interior materials have a burn rate limit of not more than four inches per minute under specified test conditions.

For 1973, Mercury joins Lincoln Continental, Continental Mark IV and Pantera in offering long-wearing steel-belted, radial-ply tires as standard equipment. These tires also are available on Montego, Cougar and Comet models. The Capri sports coupe, imported from Germany, has rayon-belted radials as standard equipment.

"Changes to Lincoln-Mercury's 1973 cars were made not simply for the sake of change but to build on the outstanding customer acceptance they enjoyed in 1972," Dewey Riggs, general manager of Olympia Lincoln Mercury said. "The new Mercury is the latest example of our product philosophy. Not only are the lines of the sheet metal appealing to the eye, but the overall design is proportioned properly to enhance our new impact-absorbing bumpers. In addition, the 1973 Mercury should ride even better than the '72 model, and we expect all these improvements to be reflected in continued growth in sales during the next twelve months."

Located at 535 W. Lincoln Highway (Route 30) Chicago Heights, Olympia Lincoln Mercury has a full line of '73's and is now clearing out the remainder of all '72's at low discount prices.

The new Mercury four-door models have thinner windshield pillars set at a rakish 60-degree angle. On Marquis and Marquis Brougham models, a distinctive new upright hood ornament lends an additional touch of luxury.

As theft deterrents, an inside hood latch release is standard equipment and an electronic anti-theft alarm system that sounds the horn if entry is forced into the passenger or luggage compartments is optional. A spare tire lock is included with the alarm system.

Wiper-mounted windshield washers for more accurate release of fluid also are new standard items for full-size Mercurys.

Power-operated vent windows — the type found on the Lincoln Continental are offered on all four-door Mercury models and a new recreation table is available for station wagons equipped with optional dual facing rear seats.

The 1973 Continental Mark IV retains its classic styling with a new die-cast version of the distinctive radiator-shell-type grille. All 1973 Lincoln-Mercury cars have a new front bumper system designed to prevent significant damage to safety-related components in 5 mph frontal impact into a flat barrier. The new rear bumper system offers protection in 2.5-mph impacts. Refinements include increased front and rear headroom; larger radial-ply, steel-belted, white sidewall tires; and an improved rear suspension.

The Mercury model line-up has been reduced from 15 to 13 by discontinuing four-door hardtops in the Monterey and Monterey Custom series. Four-door hardtops will be available in the Marquis and Marquis Brougham series, as in 1972.

The Lincoln Continental line for 1973 adds a new Town Coupe, a two-door version of the popular four-door Continental Town Car. Interiors are available with expanded trim color selections, wider front-seat head restraints and a longer front-seat armrest.

Completely redesigned in 1972, the Continental Mark IV for 1973 retains the classic styling that has made this model the most successful "Mark" of all.

Product refinements include an improved rear suspension; larger rear brakes; bigger steel-belted, radial-ply, white sidewall tires; and a side-terminal battery. On the inside, front and rear headroom is increased.

Cornering lamps and the opera window in the rear roof pillar are standard features for the 1973 Mark IV, while new options include an AM-FM multiplex radio with stereo-tape system and an elegant Silver Luxury Group. The new luxury group consists of a unique cranberry corduroy velour interior and silver exterior.

The Mercury Montego, all-new in 1972, retains the personal car styling that has made it the division's biggest sales success story. All nine models feature a new grille above the impact-absorbing bumper system.

The 1973 Montegos offer new low-back front bench seats that provide improved visibility. An electric rear-window defroster for station wagons and a leather-wrapped steering wheel are among new Montego options for 1973.

New, more comfortable front seating and luxurious interior appointments highlight improvements to the 1973 Mercury Comet. A modified grille and new side trim enhance the Comet's exterior decor.

TINLEY PARK — Finigan Ford is located right in the heart of Tinley Park at 17048 Oak Park Ave. The dealership, known as "Finigan," is only one year old, but existed for 42 years as English and Sons.

Art Coughlin, general manager, has this to say, "It's a small place so our overhead is low and we work closely with our customers. Jim English was well liked in this area, so our sales philosophy has taken its cue from him; that is, we're service oriented people. We intend to stress that we're a local dealer, growing as our community grows—which is, incidentally, increasingly."

Yanson sales mgr.: Chevy beyond belief

Earl Trompeter, general manager of Yanson Chevrolet in Chicago Heights has estimated that the year 1973 will show record gains for Yanson and indeed all of Chevrolet.

Said Trompeter, "The new models are beyond belief in contour, color, interiors and performance."

Heading the list in the Most Wanted Automobile category is the Monte Carlo, shown here with a landau top. (See accompanying artists rendering.) A luxury look, big car performance and whisper quiet ride — it's all in the '73 Monte Carlo's.

When speaking of value Chevrolet's Impala has to be included too. This year Impala comes through again with the many qualities that have made it America's most popular car. The Impala comes through with more value per dollar than ever before. With the roominess. With the ride quality. With the comfort found only on cars priced considerably more.

Which shouldn't come as any surprise. Impala has been America's most popular car year after year and the undisputed leader in its field when it comes to resale value.

This year's highlights include new front and rear styling, new improved front bumper system, a refined flow-through power ventilation system, smart new interiors and extras you can order like wire wheel covers and a dome reading light. Naturally, Impalas standard feature list remains impressive. For example: variable-ratio power steering, power disc brakes in front and three-range Turbo-Hydramatic transmission.

Dollar for dollar, Impala is one of the biggest values on the road today.

Just one of the new Impalas is the Sport Sedan with 4-door styling that is both sporty and elegant. A combination that isn't a compromise, but a beautiful blend of looks, comfort and convenience. Plus the benefit of easy entrance and exit to the rear seat.

The Sport Sedan is just one of the models of the entire Chevrolet '73 lineup which can be seen at Yanson Chevrolet, located at 555 W. Lincoln Highway (Route 30), Chicago Heights.

There is also a wide range of campers, vans and pickup trucks available including outstanding values on new 1972 models.

Advances in engine paces Buick for '73

Across-the-line body, chassis and engine advances, featured by an all-new intermediate series with the "Century" nameplate, are among the highlights of Buick Motor Division lineup of 1973 models.

"While meeting government emission, bumper and safety standards has been a basic consideration, we feel Buick's greatest achievement has been in meeting these requirements with smooth performing, safer and more satisfying automobiles," declared L.N. Mays, Buick's general manager and vice president of General Motors.

New intermediate models are headed by a one-of-a-kind Regal coupe, featuring a crisp formal roof set off by uniquely designed quarter windows.

For improved emission control, Mays said that a Buick-pioneered exhaust gas recirculating system that was proven last year on all Buicks built for California will be standard on all 1973 Buicks.

"The feature of this system," Mays explained, "is that while it provides the necessary reduction in oxides of nitrogen emission, it still maintains smooth engine performance and overall operating pleasability at a time when some sacrifice of these mechanical virtues is almost a pre-requisite for cleaner exhausts."

All new Buicks will be equipped with reinforced bumpers featuring self-restoring energy absorbers in the front. The absorbers, located between the bumper and frame, are air-hydraulic and help dissipate low speed impact energy by allowing the bumper to compress two and one-half to three inches.

The all new chassis developed for the intermediate-size Century cars incorporates a number of established features of the regular-size Buicks. This includes double steel roof, front disc brakes as standard equipment, and AccuDrive, Buick's total roadability suspension system, for smooth riding quality and directional stability.

This exclusive system combines tailored suspension and steering geometry with suspension bushings, body mounts and engine mounts individually selected for each Buick model.

For 1973, Buick is introducing into the Century line a new designation for custom models, "Century Luxus," which will be available in three body styles — formal coupe, sedan and station wagon models.

Buick also will offer a selection of four fastback sport coupes — the base Century, Century 350, Gran Sport and Sun Coupe.

The intermediate Century line offers nine basic models, and the regular-size line offers 16 for a total of 25 new Buicks.

The Century lineup also has adopted a number of serviceability features from the regular-size Buicks, including new instrument panels that can be serviced from the front at a considerable savings in time.

Jack Brown's showrooms and shop

Brown makes the difference

"All Buicks are created equal but Jack Brown makes the Difference."

It's a slogan attested to by thousands of repeat customers yearly. Some of the reasons for the success of Jack Brown Buick are:

Jack Brown Buick is one of the newest and most modern facilities in the midwest.

Jack Brown Buick is the seventh largest Buick dealer and first in service.

Jack Brown Buick has more than 500 new and used cars on the premises.

In addition to the many plusses offered the automobile-buying public, Jack Brown offers a unique call back service after the auto has been in the repair shop.

Prices are lower too, because of the tremendous volume of Buicks sold. Also at Jack Brown Buick, located at 209th Street and Western, Chicago Heights, the car buyer is offered complete financing and an insurance program.

Said Jack Rutledge, general manager, "At Jack Brown Buick we put it all together. We have one of the most complete service departments in the entire Midwest, with factory trained technicians who have up to 30 years experience. A complete body shop, from frame rack to paint booth, a complete separate reconditioning department for trade-ins . . . plus friendly personnel who appreciate your business and prove it time and time again.

"Our sales representatives are instructed to maintain contact with the customer for at least two years after a sale!"

At the top of Buick's all-new Century line is this Regal Coupe, with a crisp, formal roof and uniquely-styled quarter windows that provide a complete identity of its own. The strong vertical pattern grille and jewel-like rectangular parking lamps complement the larger single headlamps. The Regal's new design also features a wide, formal taillamp treatment and a crisp, clean rear deck highlighted only by the Regal crest and Buick nameplate. As an option, Regal offers the same luxurious interior trim materials used in the top of the line Buick Limited.

The all-new chassis developed for Buick's intermediate-size Century line provided Buick engineers an opportunity to incorporate many of the important and time-proven chassis features of the regular size Buicks.

As an example, all Buicks will now have AccuDrive, which is Buick's total roadability suspension system. This provides riding comfort and quietness along with precise handling and directional stability. It is achieved by combining tailored suspension and steering geometry with engine mountings, suspension bushings and body mounts specifically selected for each model.

All models in the Century series will have another "big car" feature in 1973 — a new instrument panel that permits servicing of components from the driver's seat. This new instrument panel combines the best elements of tasteful styling and functional requirements.

Front disc brakes will be standard, for better stopping ability and smoothness. Power disc brakes will be standard on the Century wagons, and optional on all other intermediates.

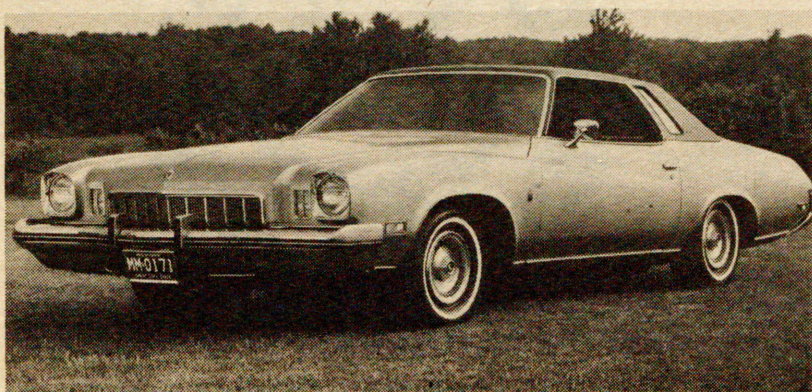

For easier loading and unloading, along with a clean, graceful appearance, the Century wagons will have a hatchback tailgate, hinged at the top. An optional rear-facing third seat will be offered with a unique flip-open rear quarter window for additional passenger comfort.

On all 1973 Buicks, a single piece of fiberglass-reinforced molded plastic serving three basic functions — fan shroud, windshield washer fluid reservoir and radiator overflow tank — will improve serviceability by being compact and providing easy access to other components under the hood.

In addition, the one-piece part will allow 20 per cent more capacity for washer fluid and, being translucent, permit service station attendants to determine at a glance the washer fluid and coolant levels.

The radiator overflow tank is the heart of Buick's successful semi-closed cooling system, which controls loss of coolant through expansion or boil-over and reduces the possibility of the engine overheating.

Side terminal batteries, which are less subject to corrosion build-up, will be standard on all series, and the virtually maintenance-free sealed battery will be optional on all car lines.

Most changed Ford Division car for 1973 is the full-sized Ford. Shown here is the LTD four-door hardtop. All-new sheet metal below the window line and a new segmented grille give the 1973 Ford a more formal look. All '73 Fords have a new impact absorbing bumper system, although the overall length of the car is increased only about one inch. power front brakes, power steering, SelectShift Cruise-O-Matic transmission and a 351-2V eight-cylinder engine are standard in all new Fords.

Ford expects more records

A New Ford car, with fresh front appearance, new sheet metal, and unique features including an optional anti-theft alarm system and a standard spare tire extractor for station wagons, highlights Ford Division offerings for 1973.

Jack Perno of Jack Perno Ford, 21000 Western, Olympia Fields indicated that these and other features will move Ford toward another record breaking year. Perno Ford has a full line of all the '73's available for immediate delivery.

Perno continued that Ford Division has expanded the availability of radial-ply steel-belted tires which are standard again on the Thunderbird in 1973 and now optional on all other car lines. These tires are offered with a 40,000-mile wear guarantee from the manufacturer.

The Ford car receives a new look, a more convenient instrument panel, and a variety of new features. Thunderbird offers a new front appearance and a new optional opera window.

Torino, with two new luxury models, eliminates the high-back bench seat of 1972 and adds a new front grille. Mustang's front bumper now is molded urethane.

Maverick's interior is substantially upgraded and Pinto adds to changes started during the '72 model year both steering and braking refinements besides new paint and trim color selections.

New impact-absorbing bumper systems that meet Federal safety standards are on all 1973 Ford Division cars as are new exhaust emission control devices to help control oxides of nitrogen.

FORD

The Ford features a new grille, and new sheet metal which give the car a long, formal look. All four-door Fords have new "greenhouses" with increased headroom over similar 1972 models.

Other Ford standard equipment improvements include a new instrument panel which places the radio, heater-air conditioner and clock within easy sight and reach of both the driver and front passengers. The bin-type glove box is twice as large as in 1972. Improved window weather-stripping helps to provide an especially quiet ride. Windshield washers on the wiper arms provide precise amounts of window cleaner exactly where needed. All 1973 Fords also include power front disc brakes.

New options with Fords include a right outside rear-view mirror with its control near the steering column, handy to the driver. Power mini-vent windows are available with four-door models.

Other new options include a recreation table between the optional dual facing rear seats in station wagons, an AM-FM stereo radio with tape player option and an automatic parking brake release.

The anti-theft alarm system also is optional. When the system is armed, forced entry into the passenger or luggage compartments cause the car's horn to sound intermittently for five to seven minutes.

The 460-cubic-inch 4V eight-cylinder engine is an added option with Ford cars. Standard engine for 1973 is Ford's 351-2V, a V-8 accompanied by a standard automatic transmission.

THUNDERBIRD

The 1973 Thunderbird offers a new front appearance produced by a new grille, standup hood ornament and larger, impact-absorbing bumper. Front and rear headroom is increased.

Radial-ply steel-belted white sidewall tires are standard, as are a refined rear suspension, larger rear brakes, and bright bodyside protection molding with a black vinyl insert.

TORINO

An all-new car in 1972, the Ford Torino has a new front appearance in 1973. Low-back front bench seats are standard, and an electric rear window defroster is now optional for station wagons.

A new Torino series is added. It includes the Gran Torino Brougham two-door hardtop and four-door pillared hardtop. They replace the Brougham Interior Trim Group option of 1972.

MUSTANG

Ford Mustang's five models — still the widest choice in the small specialty segment — include Ford Division's only convertible for 1973. All Mustangs carry a new grille, and molded urethane front bumpers which match the body color.

Five new paint colors and two new trim colors are offered. New options include forged aluminum wheels and a two-tone hood with twist-type hood locks.

Other new options include a leather-wrapped steering wheel, a revised protection package and rear bumper guards.

MAVERICK

Ford Maverick, Ford Division's newest million-unit-seller, receives a substantially upgraded interior with more comfortable seats and richer looking door trim.

A refined front and rear suspension and an improved sound insulation package highlight Maverick's technical improvements. Sporty forged aluminum wheels and an AM-FM radio are new Maverick options.

PINTO

Ford Pinto — which received many "running changes" in mid-1972, including thicker seats on all models and an improved suspension — for 1973 adds steering and brake refinements and an optional handling suspension package. Such 1972 additions as the station wagon, sun roof and Sports Accent Group will continue into 1973.

Bert Adams dealership among leaders

JOLIET — Bert Adams is the owner of the Pontiac salesroom which has been third in sales in the nation since 1959, and first in Will County.

"We aim for volume instead of higher commissions. We're more competitive than anyone else," said Adams.

He added, "New purchases often need servicing, and since we want to keep our customers we provide fine, total service for any auto needs."

Bert Adams Pontiac has been in Joliet for two years, and is located at 1705 W. Jefferson.

Sales climb 12 percent for Dodge

Dodge will introduce added features on Polara-Monaco models for 1973 plus a new front end design for Polara to continue the sales momentum generated in its full-size, medium priced cars.

Dodge 1972 model year sales climbed 12 per cent and 19 per cent for the first half of the calendar year over the previous year.

Continuing the successful marketing approach of 1972, Dodge is increasing the distinction between the full-sized line's three models, Polara, Polara Custom and Monaco.

The new front end styling featuring hidden headlamps which was introduced in 1972 will be retained as a Monaco trait, while a new front end grille and grille panel has been provided for Polara and Polara Custom for 1973.

"By accenting the difference between Polara and Monaco, we accent the value each represents, with the Monaco, of course, providing a step up in luxury," said Richard D. McLaughlin, Dodge general sales manager.

Polara-Monaco models for 1973 will offer power front disc brakes, new high speed starter motors, power steering, automatic transmissions, a number of new emission controls, new windshield wiper designs, significant improvements in Torsion Quiet ride and the new extra protection bumper system and standard electronic ignition.

Interior room and luggage space in Polara, Polara Custom and Monaco is among the largest in the medium and low-priced conventional market.

The three models will continue to have higher than average levels of exterior ornamentation and interior trim for their market segment.

Ford foresees more records

A new Ford car, with fresh front appearance, new sheet metal and unique features, including an optional anti-theft alarm system and a standard spare tire extractor for station wagons, highlights Ford Division offerings for 1973.

"With our bread-and-butter car all new, and with the market leadership we hope to continue with Pinto, Torino, Thunderbird and Mustang, we look forward to 1973 as another record-breaking year," said John Naughton, Ford vice president and Ford Division general manager.

Ford Division continues to expand the availability of radial-ply steel-belted tires which are standard again on the Thunderbird in 1973 and now optional on all other car lines. These tires are offered with a 40,000-mile wear guarantee from the manufacturer.

The Ford car receives a new look, a more convenient instrument panel, and a variety of new features. Thunderbird offers a new front appearance and a new optional opera window.

Witte develops sales on superior service

BLUE ISLAND — Witte Chevrolet has been at 127 Kedzie in Alsip for two years and in Blue Island for 45 years.

Dick Lehmann, one of two sales managers believes Witte to be superior to other car dealers. "We have a good reputation. People know they are treated well here. Witte has seen to it that pressure—inherent in other dealerships—is non-existent.

Lehmann, a former physical ed teacher, has been with Witte Chevrolet for two years, and in sales for four. He added, "Our sales philosophy is based on a new brand of consumerism."

The all-new Chevrolet Monte Carlo is among the most changed of all seven Chevrolet car lines in 1973. Featuring beautifully sculptured side and rear-quarter metal, new grille, and an optional Landau or opera-type vinyl roof, the Monte Carlo is a styling classic. Many months of advanced chassis and suspension engineering work have given the Monte Carlo handling and roadability said to equal or surpass that of Europe's most expensive personal touring cars.

A distinctive European flavor, both in styling and handling and roadability, highlights the new Chevelle Laguna which is available in two and four-door pillar hardtop models and four-door station wagon models. Urethane impact-resistant front bumper, new grille with single unit power beam lamps are highlights of the Laguna.

FIREBIRD

Pontiac introduces classic Grand Am

Pontiac for 1973 features a new sport intermediate, fresh styling and continued engineering improvement in energy-absorbing bumpers and emission control.

There are 33 models in the new Pontiac lineup including 13 full-size Pontiacs, two Grand Am and seven LeMans intermediates, four Firebirds, six Venturas and the Grand Prix.

The addition to the intermediate line is the stunning new Grand Am which incorporates classic styling with unique ride and handling characteristics. A distinctive body-colored front bumper and flexible rubber-like urethane front end panel combine functional styling with engineering to give an improved bumper system.

On most 1973 models, Pontiac has front bumpers which exceed the requirements of federal bumper standards by being completely self-restoring in a 5 m.p.h. barrier test.

The new bumper system on the front of all full-size and intermediate Pontiacs and the Grand Prix features a new energy-absorbing unit mounted to the frame that can compress up to three inches and return to normal position when the force is removed.

This unit utilizes heavy telescoping steel chambers, pressurized gas and hydraulic fluid to absorb the impact. Protective rub strips and bumper guards are available.

The new rear bumper on all Pontiac full-size and intermediate-size cars except Safaris is backed up with a high strength steel-boxed beam reinforcement. The bumper is supported with flexible steel bars to form a spring system.

Extensive changes have been made on the 1973 engines to meet more stringent emission standards with no reduction in engine performance or driveability. In fact, overall driveability and fuel economy will, in most instances, be significantly better.

A new exhaust gas recirculation system helps reduce oxides of nitrogen to 1973 standards. This system introduces exhaust gas into the air fuel mixture in the intake manifold, when required, lowering peak combustion temperature with consequent reduction of pollutants.

A new carburetor choke design contributes to substantial reduction in hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. On the initial cold start the choke is on strong for improved driveability, but is pulled off more rapidly as the engine warms up for improved emission control and fuel economy.

Also new for 1973 is a duct system directing cold air to the carburetor. This increases maximum engine power and allows greater spark advance with a consequent increase in fuel economy.

The standard Pontiacs feature an all new front end with the grilles for 1973 extending the full width of the front, wrapping around the leading edge of the fenders.

The luxurious Grand Ville is offered as a two-door formal hardtop coupe, a convertible coupe and four-door formal hardtop sedan. Grand Villes are built on 124-inch wheelbases (127-inch for Grand Safari) with an overall length of 224.8 inches. The Grand Safari wagon is available in two or three-seat models.

The Bonneville is offered as a two-door hardtop coupe, a four-door hardtop sedan and a four-door sedan.

Built on a 124-inch wheelbase (127-inch for the Safari), the Catalina is offered in five body styles - two-door hardtop, four-door hardtop, four-door sedan and the two and three-seat Safaris. The Catalina convertible and Catalina Brougham series have been discontinued. All full-size Pontiacs measure 224.8 inches long (except the Safari 228.8).

The Grand Prix carries through an interpretation of Pontiac's traditional front end split center theme.

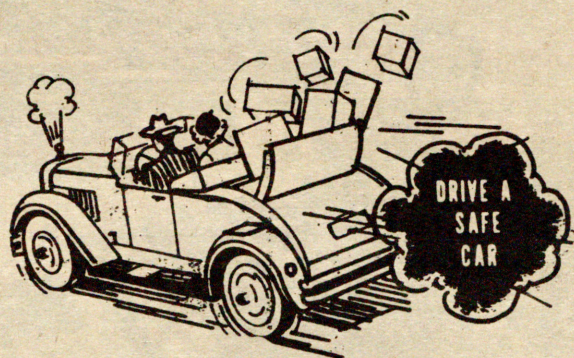

The 1973 model is 2½ inches wider and four inches longer than last year's model with a 116-inch wheelbase, and is 216.6 inches long.

Immediately noticeable in profile is a new fixed rear quarter window which blends with the classic styling and improves visibility. A distinctive "GP" emblem is included in this rear quarter window. In the rear the "boat tail" theme is accented by a pronounced rear crease extending through the rear window.

The stunning new Grand Am highlights 1973 intermediates from Pontiac. This new sporty luxury car is offered as a two-door hardtop (112-inch wheelbase) and four-door hardtop (116-inch wheelbase).

The fixed rear quarter window on the Grand Am coupe features body-colored or top-colored louvers. One of the most distinctive features of the Grand Am is its outstanding roadability. Use of steel belted radial tires with a specially tuned suspension provide a smooth ride and outstanding handling.

The intermediates have an all-new appearance with larger glass area and thinner corner pillars giving improved visibility all around while affording improved roof strength, tight body and glass fits and reduced wind noise.

'Great year' for L-M

Lincoln-Mercury Division, coming off its greatest model-year sales performance in history, offers completely restyled full-size Mercurys and numerous refinements and engineering improvements for all of its 1973 models.

To meet federal requirements, all 1973 Lincoln-Mercury cars have a new front bumper system designed to prevent significant damage to safety-related components in 5 m.p.h. frontal impact into a flat barrier. The new rear bumper system offers protection in 2.5 m.p.h. impacts.

"Changes to Lincoln-Mercury's 1973 cars were made not simply for the sake of change but to build on the outstanding customer acceptance they enjoyed in 1972," Bennet E. Bidwell, Ford vice president and division general manager said.

"The new Mercury is the latest example of our product philosophy. Not only are the lines of the sheet metal appealing to the eye, but the overall design is proportioned properly to enhance our new impact-absorbing bumpers. In addition, the 1973 Mercury should ride even better than the '72 model, and we expect all these improvements to be reflected in continued growth in sales during the next twelve months."

Olympia Dodge offers auto's 'total package'

Olympia Dodge presents the Year of the Beautiful.

Bill Frank, president of Olympia Dodge, 209th Street and Western, Chicago Heights, was recently quoted as saying, "This year we have the total package: durability, safety, and tremendous selection, all wrapped up on beautiful styling."

Silence is golden for the intermediate-size 1973 Dodge Charger and Coronet. Redesigned suspension pieces, sound deadeners and additional noise insulation material are standard equipment for all models.

"Our primary interest has been to design a quiet vehicle that can be compared favorably with larger, more expensive, standard-size models," said Richard D. McLaughlin, general sales manager of Dodge Division.

"The 1973 Coronets and Chargers not only have an attractive appearance, but offer a higher sense of luxury and comfort and incorporate the Torsion Quiet ride advancements similar to those on the standard-size Dodges.

"Our engineers gave extra attention to Charger S.E. and the new entry will play a major part in refining the performance-oriented image Charger has enjoyed since its inception," McLaughlin said.

New styling lines on body sides, fenders and window openings, as well as higher levels of interior and exterior ornamentation add to this more refined image.

For 1973, Charger and Coronet models continue their unique split-wheelbase individual styling market approach. The two-door coupe and hardtop Chargers are built on a 115-inch wheelbase. The four-door sedan and two and three seat station wagon Coronets are built on a 118-inch wheelbase.

Both a 225-cubic inch Slant Six engine and 318 CID V-8 will be offered as standard on the two-door Charger coupe and Charger models as well as the Coronet and Coronet Custom sedan models. The top-of-the-line Charger S.E. and all Coronet station wagons have the 318 CID V-8 standard.

Optional powerplants for Charger coupe and Charger models include the performance-oriented 340 V-8 available only with the Rallye package. All Dodge intermediates have the 400 CID two-barrel single exhaust and the four-barrel dual exhaust version available.

Charger S.E. and Charger Rallye models offer an upgraded 440 CID performance engine, an improved torque converter, "Thermo-Quad" carburetor, and certain exhaust system revisions.

Electronic ignition is standard equipment with all engines. Front disc brakes are standard on all the models.

Dodge will introduce added features on Polara-Monaco models for 1973 plus a new front end design for Polara to continue the sales momentum generated in its full-size, medium priced cars.

Dodge 1972 model year sales climbed 12 percent and 19 percent for the first half of the calendar year over the previous year.

Continuing the successful marketing approach of 1972, Dodge is increasing the distinction between the full-sized line's three models, Polara, Polara Custom and Monaco.

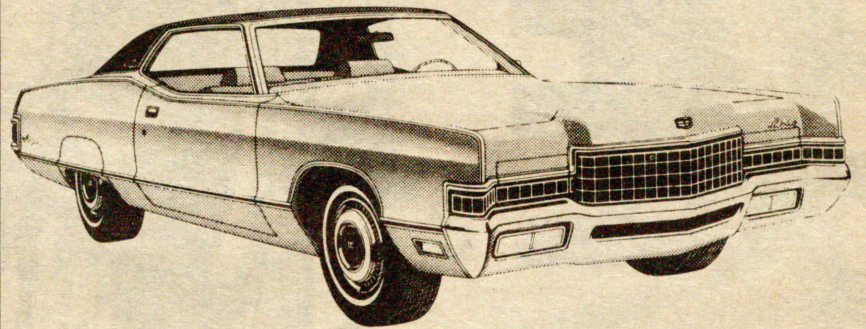

The new front end styling featuring hidden headlamps which was introduced in 1972 will be retained as a Monaco trait, while a new front end grille and grille panel has been provided for Polara and Polara Custom for 1973.

"By accenting the difference between Polara and Monaco, we accent the value each represents, with the Monaco, of course, providing a step up in Luxury," said McLaughlin.

A LOT OF CAR, the sub-compact Dodge Colt is available in four models: 2-door hardtop, coupe, 4-door sedan and 2-seat wagon. These models will continue to be available through the 1972 calendar year. New models will be introduced after Jan. 1, 1973.
